WORLD ELECTRIFIED AS HITLER SENDS TROOPS IN TO RHINELAND

Liberty League Raps Lobby Quiz

CHARGES FLY OVER METHOD OF PROBERS

Shouse Says Senate Group
'Invading Our Fundamental Rights'

WASHINGTON, March 7.—(UP)—The American Liberty league and the senate lobby committee were engaged today in a blistering exchange of charges and counter-charges over the committee's method of conducting its nation-wide investigation.

Joett Shouse, president of the Liberty league, charged in a radio speech that the senate group had gone beyond its authority, and appealed to followers of his organization to join in a "mammoth petition of protest against this monstrous invasion of our fundamental rights."

Shouse vigorously criticized the committee's tactics and said its practice of subpoenaing copies of telegrams sent or received by hundreds of companies and individuals was in direct violation of the "rights and liberties" of the American people.

Committee Chairman Hugo L. Black, D., Ala., replied immediately with a statement that Shouse and his supporters were "simply spokesmen for the interests that don't want to be investigated."

"They are seeking to divert the public mind to something else," he said, adding that the committee probably would seek radio time to answer the league's charges.

"The American Liberty league is one of the group whose telegrams have been turned over to the Black committee without notification," Shouse said. "Quite by accident we learned that this had been done."

SARDINE INDUSTRY CURB IS PROTESTED

SAN FRANCISCO, March 7.—(UP)—The Pacific Fisheries Institute reported today that 500 telegrams of protest have been sent to Washington by agricultural, labor and industrial interests joining in a campaign against passage of federal legislation which the institute charges is designed to destroy the Pacific coast's sea-going sardine processing industry.

Stanley Hiller, president of the institute, said primary purpose of the legislation is to bring sea-going reduction plants under the California fish and game commission's jurisdiction.

The protests, addressed to Washington in time to arrive prior to a joint meeting of the senate commerce committee and the house marine and fisheries committee, also urged a passage of a proposal by Sen. Hiram Johnson of California and Sen. Charles McNary of Oregon for a $10,000 appropriation for federal investigation of California's jurisdiction over the industry.

TWO MEN KILLED IN UNION BATTLE

ASTORIA, Ore., March 7.—(UP)—Two men were reported killed in a pitched battle between rival unions at the Crown-Willamette logging camp near Seaside today.

Reported killed were Jim Rae and a man named Blackburn, both asserted members of the Sawmill and Timber Workers' union, members of which were said to have raided the camp.

The fight was the result of a long controversy between the Sawmill Pulp and Paper Workers' union over jurisdiction.

Treasury Suggestions Eliminated In Favor Of F. D. R.'s Tax Plan

WASHINGTON, March 7.—(UP)—House tax leaders discarded treasury alternatives for increased individual income taxes today and returned to President Roosevelt's corporate tax proposal for raising $1,137,000,000 to balance the ordinary budget.

The house way and means subcommittee studying tax proposals preparatory to writing a tentative bill was reported to have virtually eliminated treasury suggestions for higher income taxes, new nuisance levies and a general manufacturer's excise tax.

The committee was ready to write a tax bill to produce $730,000,000 to $790,000,000 annually for three years and $620,000,000 a year thereafter. It would embody the main points of Mr. Roosevelt's proposal for a stiff tax on corporation surpluses.

The president estimated they would need $620,000,000 a year to finance the farm program and the bonus during the next nine years, with an added $172,000,000 a year during the next three years to reimburse the treasury for lost AAA processing taxes.

The subcommittee was reported to have agreed informally that the measure should include:

1. A $620,000,000 net tax on undistributed corporate profits, modified to give partial exemption for "reasonable reserves."

2. A "windfall" tax to recapture from $110,000,000 to $160,000,000 of the $217,000,000 in uncollected or impounded processing taxes. If these two provisions fail to satisfy the White House, the committee probably would agree to provide for new processing taxes over a range of more than 20 commodities. These would be for two or three years to yield from $100,000,000 to $221,000,000 annually.

Every effort, it was indicated, will be made to shelve the proposed processing taxes. March 15 tax returns, and clarification of the budget situation as to bonus financing needs, are expected to determine whether the taxes will be in the tentative bill.

Election year congressional opposition to burdening the public generally with more direct taxes led to the indicated shelving of treasury tax suggestions.

DOCTOR TAKES A HOLIDAY

The babies caught up with Dr. Allan Roy Dufoe, the Dionne quintuplets' doctor, just before the end of his visit to New York, so here you see him stethoscoping Dorothy Lawrence while Nurse Madeline Manheims looks on. The "busman's holiday" incident took place during a visit to the Bellevue-Yorkville Health Center, shortly before his return to Canada.

N. Y. STRIKERS GAIN GROUND: 179 ARRESTED

NEW YORK, March 7.—Striking skyscraper employees won ground steadily in their fight for higher wages and a 48-hour week today but threatened to extend their walkout across state lines to clinch victory.

Pickets grew more belligerent before the big midtown hotels involved in the strike yesterday and along Park avenue and swank Central Park West. Police arrested eight men and two women in the hour after midnight. With 60 arrested yesterday and today, the total of arrests in seven days rose to 179.

New Jersey officers of the building service employees international union, which called the New York strike, took advantage of the Manhattan situation to notify owners of 40 Newark office buildings that they must sign union contracts by 9 a. m. Monday, or experience a strike.

New York union leaders ordered 20,000 members to strike in Brooklyn and Queens boroughs Monday unless building owners surrender.

CLARKSON DEATH CAUSED BY HEART

LOS ANGELES, March 7.—(UP)—A heart attack caused the death of George Bruce Clarkson, 61, former state fish and game commissioner, shortly after he was found wandering dazed and bruised on a street last night, County Autopsy Surgeon Frank Webb said today.

Bruises on Clarkson's face and knees were superficial, probably inflicted in a fall, Webb said. Coroner Frank A. Nance was undecided about calling an inquest.

Clarkson was found wandering in a daze by Phil E. Hicks, a motorist. He apparently had been severely beaten. Hicks was rushing him to a hospital when Clarkson died suddenly.

According to Hicks, the elderly game commissioner was dazed and hardly able to walk when he accosted him on the street.

"Who slugged me—I don't know what happened to me," Hicks quoted Clarkson as mumbling.

Clarkson accepted Hicks offer to aid and led him to an expensive car parked nearby and asked him to drive him to a hospital. On the way Clarkson became violently ill, Hicks said so he stopped at a garage and called an ambulance. Clarkson was dead when hospital attendants arrived.

Camera Robs F. D. R., Jr., Of Girl's Kiss

NEW YORK, March 7.—(UP)—A fellow, says Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., may be called "daring" by a girl without being engaged to her.

"I'm still in college, so don't be stupid about it," he told newspapermen who expressed curiosity about Miss Olivia Morgan, who threw herself into his arms yesterday with the cry "Oh, darling," and proffered an unaccepted kiss.

"I've known her since I was so high," he explained. "Why didn't you kiss her?" "I would have," he said laughing, "but I saw cameras."

PATROL CITY IN STUDENTS' STRIKE

ALAMEDA, Cal., March 7.—(UP)—Armed guards retained by city officials patrolled administration offices today after threats of seizure by militant citizens who joined 3,500 striking school students in protest against the ouster of Superintendent of Schools William G. Paden.

The patrol was maintained despite a warning from District Attorney Earl Warren of Alameda county, who informed Mayor Hans Roebke and other officials that they would be held responsible for any violence.

The students' strike started Wednesday after dismissal of Paden by a reorganized board of education was made public. Protest parades and mass meetings of striking students were joined by adults and demands for a thorough "spring housecleaning" of city politics were added to students' demands for Paden's reinstatement.

While guards watched city offices, 500 citizens joined a "march" on the district attorney's office.

Dr. Gale Clelland, pastor of the First Methodist church, spokesman for the group, advised Warren that citizens were in a "highly excited state." Armed guards were in possession of the city hall, he said, and their presence might provoke an outburst of violence.

LAUGHING GIRL GAINS

WESTON, W. Va., March 7.—(UP)—Teresa Hawkins, 18-year-old honor student in a business college, who underwent an abdominal operation after she had laughed intermittently for nine days, gained strength rapidly in the Weston State hospital today.

FRANCE SEEKS LEAGUE PENALTIES FOR TREATY VIOLATIONS BY GERMANY

GENEVA, March 7.—(UP)—The League of Nations council is expected to meet next week to consider Germany's violation of the demilitarized Rhineland zone.

PARIS, March 7.—(UP)—France today decided to ask the League of Nations to apply financial and economic penalties against Germany for its denunciation of the Locarno pact and re-occupation of the Rhineland.

BERLIN, March 7.—(UP)—Adolf Hitler sent troops into the demilitarized Rhineland zone today and thereby tore to shreds the last repressive clauses of the Versailles treaty.

Twenty-five thousand troops so far have moved into the Rhineland, it was estimated unofficially.

An official announcement said 19 battalions of infantry and 13 battalions of artillery were moving into the zone today and tomorrow.

Coincidentally Hitler announced that the Locarno treaty which guarantees the frontiers of Germany, France and Belgium—and the Rhineland zone—had ceased to exist because of France's new military alliance with Russia.

But in this final defiance of the world war allies, Hitler offered all Germany's neighbors a program he said would bring a real lasting peace and friendship to nations.

Then he called an election for a new Reichstag to be held March 29, so that he might get a vote of approval from his countrymen.

Hitler Repudiation Does Not Take World Wholly By Surprise

BY ED L. KEEN

PARIS, March 7.—(UP)—Whether another world war has been brought nearer by an event very similar to the tearing up of a "scrap of paper" 22 years ago is a question which doubtless arose in the minds of everyone in the world upon reading today's news from Berlin.

Only events of the next few days can supply the answer.

Although the situation in Europe today in many respects is parallel to that of 1914, there is one distinct difference. That is the fact the world in 1914 was wholly unprepared for the sudden action of Kaiser William of Germany, whereas today Adolf Hitler's announcement of the Locarno agreements and the Rhineland clause of the treaty Versailles long had been threatened by the Fuehrer himself.

Certainly France was not taken unawares. Her preparedness has been apparent for months in military preparations, the fortification of her frontiers and her diplomatic activity.

Paris foresees today's developments and was ready for them. It is exceedingly unlikely that France will be stampeded into any event act—the result of which might mean the crash of civilization.

On the contrary, it is to be expected France will make every effort for a peaceful solution through the League of Nations, the league's permanent court of international justice, and other legal and diplomatic machinery.

Some amelioration of the situation is found in the fact that Germany's military movements in the Rhineland are largely symbolic. Hitler is not defying the world.

LONDON, March 7.—(UP)—European statesmen, electrified by Adolf Hitler's history making move, called urgent meetings to consider their course.

While France cancelled some week-end army leaves and considered calling an urgent meeting of the league council, there were intimations that the British government, confronted with a crisis that forced the facing of realities, might be ready to negotiate a peace plan on the basis of Hitler's declarations.

It was announced that Anthony Eden, foreign secretary, received Leopold Von Hoesch, German ambassador, at the foreign office yesterday and revived the offer of a western European air pact for mutual defense. Hoesch at once sent the offer to Berlin.

This offer was made when there was every indication that Germany might announce today its determination to rearm the Rhineland.

Government leaders here began consultations as soon as they learned the contents of Adolf Hitler's memorandum.

3 DEAD AFTER BATTLE OVER PRISON BREAK

Harold leaped to his feet. "Let's go," he cried.

Nearby, another convict, Phil Ray, guessed what was happening. He asked to join in the break.

"The first thing we thought of was to get more guns," Claude explained later.

They found Fred Strass, a turnkey, and jammed the muzzle of their guns into his back. Strass, facing sure death if he disobeyed, was forced to unlock the prison arsenal. The men each seized a rifle, a pistol, and as much ammunition as they could carry.

Then the idea of a hostage struck them. They seized a machine gun, and forced Strass to take them to the warden's office. Relying had no choice. With the machine gun at his back, he led the way out of the office to an automobile which Claude Carrier had left outside.

Apparently Strass was left inside and unbound, where he could sound the alarm, for as the convicts reached the car, the wall of prison sirens rang over the prison yard. But the car roared through the gates before guards could close them.

The convict car had covered barely two miles when deputies started in pursuit. Then the convicts made their mistake. They turned from the main highway into a side road. They found it choked with snowdrifts. They wheeled about and started back for the main road.

At the intersection, they found another car—occupied by Meisel and Miss Freda Roach. Gambling that the Meisel car would contain more weapons than their own, they abandoned their machine.

They flagged down Meisel and Miss Roach, forced them to leave their car. As they prepared to go on, the first deputy squad car roared around a curve. Collins opened fire with a high-powered rifle, and Ray fell dead. Another shot struck Rely.

A bullet pierced Claude Carrier's shoulder. One of the brothers turned the machine gun on the squad car as the other took over the wheel of the Meisel machine. Before they left, the brothers turned their guns for an instant on Meisel and Miss Roach. Meisel was wounded fatally. Miss Roach was shot in the hand.

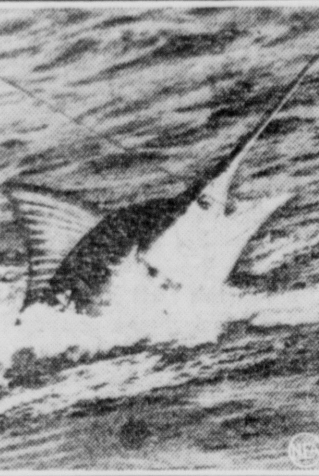

The brothers climbed into their car, leaving Ray dead, and Meisel and Rely dying at the roadside. They careened over the icy highways for two miles, exchanging shots with the deputies.

Then the driver of the Carrier car lot control. The machine plunged into a snowbank. The brothers leaped out, blazing at the officers who returned bullet for bullet. Four more bullets smashed into Claude Carrier's shoulder. Another pierced Collins' abdomen. Then the brothers surrendered.

Liberty at Stake

Any angler who has hooked one will tell you a swordfish is every inch a fighter. These remarkable pictures of a strike made on the famous fishing grounds off New Zealand give you an idea of how they fight to free themselves from the hook. At top a huge six-foot-or-hurler himself clear of the shurned up water in an effort to escape. Below, its swirling wake belies the appearance of surrender.

"Towards a Christian America" (Herman N. Morse) which she will complete for the group at a future meeting.

Supplementary books on the same subject were suggested as follows: "Epic of America" and "March of Democracy" (James Truslow Adams); "Rise of American Civilization" (Charles and Mary Beard); "Jason Lee, Prophet of the New Oregon" (Cornelius J. Brosnan); "Religious Background of American Culture" (Thomas C. Hall); "Heroes of the Cross in America" (D. O. Shelton); "Sheldon Jackson" (Robert Laird Stewart).

The meeting was opened with a vocal solo by Miss Laura Joiner, with Miss Esther Vogt at the piano. Mrs. George A. Warner led devotionals on "God's Love."

Announcement was made of the organization of the Win-One league in an endeavor for each member to win one person to Christ and membership in the church before Easter.

Mrs. H. W. Guthrie spoke of homes, schools and settlements described in the March number of the magazine, "Home Missions," and Mrs. S. M. Davis gave a resume of the cooperative movement. Mrs. John Clarkson reported on the recent World Day of Prayer observance in this city, and announced that a Federated Day of Prayer will be held in Santa Ana next month.

First Baptist Married People's class enjoyed a varied program at its latest meeting in the church basement, where a clever radio skit was presented, with the Harry Pink family "tuning in" on the so-called broadcast.

The program included cornet solos, "Mighty Like a Rose" and "Lullaby" by Onie Sanders; a dramatic skit, "Lipstick, Powder and Rouge" given by Jane King and Jack Wood Jr., members of the high school dramatic club.

A pantomime, "The Duchess Bounces In," was presented by a cast headed by Kay Dean, as the duchess, and Gertrude Wood, Jack Wood and Allen Nelson. The situation was explained by Dr. Luther Davidson, sound effects were given by Dr. F. W. Dean; Virginia Hemmen was pianist; Jack Wood Jr., announcer.

Refreshments were served. On the committee in charge of the party were Messrs. and Mesdames Jack Wood, Allen Nelson, W. J. Hemmen, G. C. Huffman, Harry Pink, E. L. Purvis, Dr. and Mrs. F. W. Dean, Dr. and Mrs. Luther Davidson.

AUTO REPORTED RECOVERED AS POLICE BROADCAST IS MADE

Police radio broadcasting once again, before a broadcast, announcing theft of a Nash coupe, 1935 license 8877072, with-out registration in the driver's compartment, had been abandoned at Birch and Pine streets.

When Desk Sergeant J. F. McWilliams heard Mrs. Tedford's report, he memorized the license number. When the number was broadcast into the Santa Ana loudspeaker at 2:30 p. m. yesterday as that belonging to a car stolen from Fullerton, McWilliams immediately interrupted the broadcast to report the car found.

DOUG FAIRBANKS, LADY ASHLEY WED

PARIS, March 7. — (UP) — The much publicized, long enduring romance of Douglas Fairbanks and Lady Sylvia Ashley, British noblewoman, culminated in marriage today in the town hall of the Eighth Paris district. American Ambassador Jesse I. Strauss was among the guests.

The marriage culminated a romance of years' standing that resulted in two divorces. Lord Ash-ley divorced his beautiful, former actress wife in London, naming Fairbanks as co-respondent. Mary Pickford divorced Fairbanks in Los Angeles for desertion.

For two days Fairbanks had argued with French officials to get the marriage performed without the usual period of continuous residence and the posting of bonds. These requirements were waived to be postponed until documentary proof of Lady Ashley's divorce could be brought by airplane from London.

LAMSON'S DEFENSE WINS MINOR POINT

SAN JOSE, Cal., March 7. — (UP) — David A. Lamson's fourth wife murder trial will resume Monday with prosecuting attorneys under strict orders from Superior Judge J. J. Trabucco to desist from attempting to reveal prejudice or bias in cross-examination of defense witnesses.

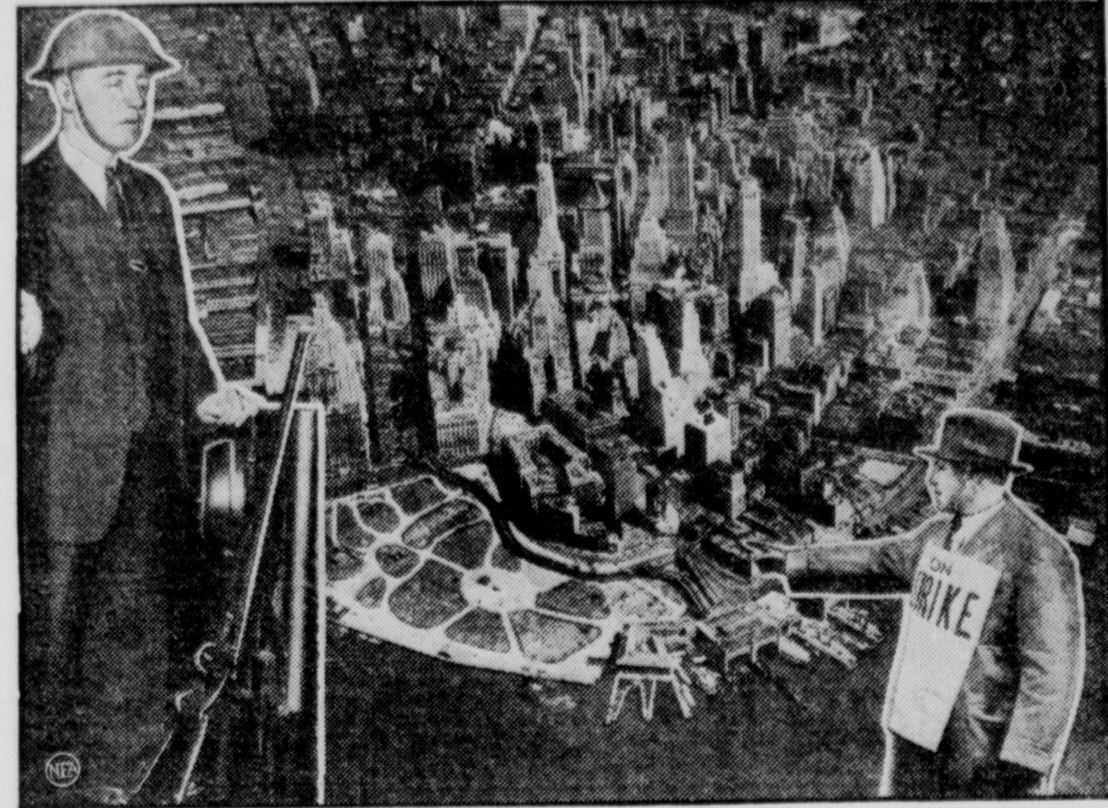

French cabinet leaders called in members of the general staff to consider the situation and talked of calling an emergency meeting of the league council for Tuesday.

NYA Eligibles Called To Meet On Monday Next

An emergency meeting for all young people eligible for NYA work in the county has been called for Monday morning at 9 o'clock in the First Methodist church, it was announced today by Fred P. Jayne, head of the PTWW division of WPA in Orange county.

Monday is the deadline for young people to get jobs on the NYA work, Jayne announced, and all those who want this work must report at the meeting Monday at 9 a. m. or as soon after that time as possible. All boys and girls from 16 to 25 years of age are eligible for the jobs, which pay from $19 to $23 a month for a few hours work a day. There are 300 such jobs open in Orange county.

As Elevator Strike Grippes N. Y. Skyscraper Zone

Besieged by the pickets of an army of 75,000 strikers, the skyscrapers of New York centered a zone of violence in which clashes have been frequent and in which the threat of a general strike in the metropolis have been loudly voiced. More than 6000 buildings were affected by the walkout of building workers, causing untold inconvenience and hardship in many cases. Hurling a challenge at the strikers, Attorney F. C. Bellinger, World War veteran, is shown at left. Steel-helmeted, with shotgun beside him, he ran an elevator in the apartment building in which he lives, after he had started to form a Tenants' Defense League.

WORLD IS ELECTRIFIED AS HITLER REARMS RHINELAND IN REPUDIATION OF TREATY

Hitler made his momentous declaration, which must mark the opening of a new chapter in Europe's post-war history, in a memorandum to foreign envoys and a speech at a special reichstag meeting, called to hear him. It was a speech that matched any in his silver voiced career.

His voice fell in appeal, rose in determination, flashed in anger at injustices he alleged had been piled upon Germany as he faced the Nazi uniformed reichstag deputies. He reviewed Germany's hardships, spoke of its rights and its powers, and at the end read to the deputies a memorandum handed to foreign envoys, embracing his momentous pronouncements.

1. Germany at noon today, when the reichstag met, sent into the Rhineland zone a symbolic force of troops, a few battalions only, in token of the decision that Locarno is dead and that Germany has the right to militarize it despite the specific ban of the Versailles treaty.

2. Now that Germany is on full equal terms with all other great nations, rearmend and free, she is ready to re-enter the league of nations from which she resigned October 14, 1933, because she believed she was not being treated as an equal at the world disarmament conference.

3. Germany is ready to conclude a 25 year non-aggression pact with France and Belgium, whose frontier the Locarno treaty protected.

4. Germany is ready to negotiate a non-aggression pact or pacts with all her neighbors, east and west, including Lithuania.

5. Germany is ready to establish with France and Belgium mutual demilitarized zones as deep as those countries wish.

6. Germany urges the negotiation of the long projected western European air defense treaty, by which the principal powers would pool their air forces to blast the territory of any aggressor with bombs.

Europe Hears News Before Hitler had finished speaking, hardly before his battalions had grounded arms in the Rhineland, news of his defiance and his offer had reached every chancellery in Europe.

French cabinet leaders called in members of the general staff to consider the situation and talked of calling an emergency meeting of the league council for Tuesday.

Then came news that Italy had accepted in principle—even if bound with reservations—a league offer to negotiate a peaceful settlement of its war on Ethiopia, and that itself inside the diplomatic framework for delicate, anxious days to come.

All over Europe statesmen met to talk over the situation. Telephone and telegraph wires and cables flashed diplomatic dispatches. Diplomatic couriers were started on a race through Europe by train, motor car and airplane.

After he handed the diplomats of the Locarno powers copies of memoranda, and gave other envoys copies through the foreign office, Hitler drove to the reichstag meeting in the Kroll Opera house, used in place of the old reichstag building whose burning—allegedly by Communists—swept him from normal constitutional leadership to dictatorship.

President Hermann Goering called the reichstag to order. Two deputies who had died were commemorated and Wilhelm Gustloff, Nazi leader in Switzerland, was memorialized as having been killed by a "cowardly assassin." He was shot to death at Davos, Switzerland.

Then Hitler rose. He started quietly by saying that the reichstag had been convened to give deputies an opportunity to hear a government declaration "which I am sure you and whole nation will consider important, and which may be decisive."

Reviews War Days He went back to the war days of 1918 and said:

"Germany more than other nations felt the wisdom of Woodrow Wilson's policy. Germany had the misfortune to be defeated. Wilson's articles (the 14 points for a just

That New York elevator strike certainly was unpopular with Manhattan's cliff dwellers, judging from the crowds that jammed the lounges of the apartments hoping it would be called off before they had to walk up. . . . Believe me, I haven't seen so many lobbyists since I left Washington.

Even the Park Avenue area had to do without elevator service. . . . But what's a few flights, after one's had years of social climbing?

Nevertheless, it's a funny sight to see those millionaires approach ten-dollar-a-week elevator boys, and say, "Hey buddy, can you give a fellow a lift?"

They say that while the apartments of Mayor LaGuardia, and Governor Lehman had no elevator service, Al Smith's domicile wasn't bothered. . . . Oh well, Al will get his exercise when he takes that walk at the Democratic convention.

N. Y. STRIKERS GAIN STEP TO VICTORY

A threat to add the cloud-sweeping towers of the Grand Central terminal district to the areas of New York where millions of persons have been forced for a week to walk up and down stairs and shiver in cold apartments and offices, brought quick capitulation from the 50-story Chanin building. It agreed to a $2 weekly wage increase for all its employees, and to negotiate other demands.

The $150,000,000 Prudence Company, controlling 145 buildings, signed union contracts yesterday. Approximately 3500 workers were affected.

James J. Bambrick, local union head, said 150 smaller buildings deserted the realty advisory boards and signed contracts.

bolshievis Russia that Hitler showed abhorrence.

"The soviet union not only controls one-sixth of the earth but have set up an unbridgeable antagonism with surrounding nations.

"I overcame a pernicious class struggle at home. Why is it not possible to overcome international hostility?"

"To persons who maintain that I have declined to cooperate with Russia, I say: I do not decline to cooperate with Russia but with bolshevism claiming world domination.

"I tremble for Europe to think what would become of our overpopulated continent if this destructive Asiatic doctrine should be victorious.

"I know that I am an uncomfortable warrior, that the Bolshevists consider me an arch enemy. I deem it an honor. I shall prevent Germany from becoming a victim of this destructive theory."

Europe, Hitler said, is divided into two halves, on one hand the free and independent communities, on the other those who are governed by Bolshevism, bent on establishing a system distasteful to all nations.

"We do not want any internal contact with the Bolshevists beyond normal economic and political relations."

Hitler turned again to the course he has followed since he took office:

"What concrete proposals could be made, I made. I made concrete proposals to limit armies to 200,000 men. When that was rejected I agreed to an army of 300,000. I made many other concrete proposals. All were rejected."

At the end there were wild cheers.

Goering announced the Reichstag was dissolved as of March 28 and that elections would be held March 29. Only Nazis will be candidates. In making the announcement, he said Germans were loyal to Hitler and were ready to follow him to the point of giving their lives.

CHARGES FLY OVER METHODS USED IN O.U.Z.

"To any information that the committee can get it is more than welcome, but it will be disappointed at the result. The league has done its work in public. . . . There are no skeletons in its closet."

Senator Lewis B. Schwellenbach, D., Wash., commented that if the league had "nothing to conceal," it is "peculiar that it is so vigorously objecting to our perusal of its telegrams."

Shouse charged that either committee investigators or federal communications commission agents had examined every telegram sent to Washington by every citizen in the country from February 1 to December 1, 1935, regardless of whether the messages pertained to personal or private business.

"If your telegrams can be pawed over at will by agents of a partisan political group," Shouse asked, "what assurance have you that your mail may not be tampered with? What assurance have you that your telephone wires may not be tapped and your conversations reported? What assurance have you that dictaphones may not be placed in your offices or your homes?"

"That is a fabrication of the while plot," said Senator Sherman Minton, D., Ind. "We have examined only the telegrams and correspondence of organizations that have been known to have been active in opposition to or in favor of legislation."

Three new members, the Mesdames Lena Burdick, Ray Bell and C. T. Bechtold, were welcomed into the club by the club chairman, Mrs. J. O. Tallman.

During a brief business session Mrs. George Ragan, director of a financial drive unit, reported $50 raised by her section recently and Mrs. Ruben Day reported $24.35 received in a recent food sale by the unit. Mrs. Day also stated that her unit is planning a nut-bread sale for March 17 and a food sale table at the club's anniversary dinner meeting on March 20.

Mrs. D. J. Dodge, child welfare chairman of the organization, announced that a well baby clinic will be held at the Woman's clubhouse next Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Dr. Edward Lee Russell, of the county health department, will be in charge.

Tea was served by hostesses, Mrs. L. R. Daughenbaugh and Mrs. H. H. Thayer.

In view of the alterations being made, the only posts regarded as filled are those of premier, which is Hirota's, war minister, which is Terauchi's, and the navy minister, offered to Admiral Osami Nagano.

HONOR GROUPS SEEK $100 IN CONTRIBUTIONS

The annual student loan fund drive for graduates of the Santa Ana junior college will be launched Wednesday and Thursday of next week.

The campaign is being sponsored by the two scholastic honor societies of the college, the Phi Theta Kappa and Alpha Gamma Sigma organizations. The goal is to collect approximately $100 through student contributions. The money is donated in the class rooms, a prize being offered for the college class donating the largest amount of money per capita.

The drive will be culminated Friday evening with a large dance sponsored by Phi Theta Kappa in the Santa Ana Veterans hall. Money taken from this dance also will be added to the fund.

According to Mrs. Jennie L. Tessmann, a member of the student loan committee, the fund was established in 1921 to aid graduates of the college to complete their four years of college work at other institutions. Since that time loans have been made to 145 students and a revolving fund of over $13,000 established. The needy student may borrow small sums of as much as $300 a year with the promise that the sum will be repaid within two years of graduation or that interest will be paid after that time.

Mrs. Tessmann further stated that the need this year for capital is greater than ever before because of prevailing conditions, only one-half of last year's applicants having been accepted because of lack of funds.

Committees for the drive are headed by Miss Louise Sexton, Joseph Langland, Miss Alice Compton, Miss Katherine Bolton, and Miss Mary Wallace.

STRANGE STORY TOLD BY DAZED MAN TO POLICE

Strange stories of adventure, mystery, excitement, have been filed on sheriff's office and Santa Ana police department files, but not in many a moon.

Found in a dazed condition on Santa Ana river bridge on Seventeenth street by Al Pierson of Phoenix last night, C. Harvey Rose, 1047 West Highland, Santa Ana, had a story to tell Deputy Sheriffs Walt Dungan, Ezra Stanley and Bob Steinberger after being taken to Orange county hospital for treatment of cuts and bruises.

"I was returning from a visit at the home of my boss in Orange yesterday afternoon," Rose told Deputy Steinberger. "I was driving west on Chapman. Near Oran road I picked up a hitch-hiker who carried a bottle with him, which I think contained wine. I took a drink of it and I think it was spiked for the next thing I remember was wandering about West Seventeenth, near Buitt's dairy, without my car and without my hitch-hiking friend. I think he had the stuff spiked and that he hit me over the head."

Last night, unknown to the sheriff's office, Santa Ana police department received a call to Seventeenth and Flower streets where it was reported a mysteriously wrecked car was standing in an orchard, 100 feet from the highway. It was quite badly wrecked, according to Officers C. V. Adams and Ralph Pantuso, who answered the call. They could find nothing which the car might have run into. No one was in the car. Harold Short, 1009 West Sixth street, said he saw the car, shortly before the accident, speeding down the highway.

This morning Deputy Steinberger checked license numbers. The wrecked car was that of Rose. Officials today were wondering where the hitch-hiker could be and were making inquiries.

REGISTER ITEM NEW DELCO AND PHILCO RADIOS ARE PREVIEWED

The young man who was held up February 26 and robbed by a 14-year-old Long Beach boy today was identified, through publication of a story in The Register, as Robert Mott, 508 Minter street, Santa Ana.

When the Long Beach boy, Thomas Payne, was arrested in Los Angeles Tuesday, he confessed to robbing "a young man in Santa Ana on East Fifth street with a toy pistol and taking $10." Santa Ana officers were puzzled because the victim had never reported to them. A friend of Mott read The Register's story in which was a request that the victim help clear up the case. Mott came in to the police station yesterday. He said he lost $2.10 to Payne but that, apparently, Payne had dropped a dollar bill in taking the money. Mott declared Payne used a gun. Payne said it was a toy. Payne admitted coming to Santa Ana on a bicycle he stole from Long Beach high school and abandoned in Birch park, here. Assistant Chief Harry Fink declared the bicycle was found and returned to its Long Beach owner.

Mott was held up, he said, on the corner of Fifth and Mortimer streets, a short distance from his home, about 7 p. m.

TOWNSENDITES RANCH OWNER MEET SUNDAY PINNED UNDER IN FULLERTON LARGE TRACTOR

With two prominent Townsend Plan leaders on the speaking program, a county-wide Townsend mass meeting will be staged tomorrow at 2 p. m. in the Fullerton First Baptist church. It was announced today by Walter R. Robb, Orange county manager for the Townsend movement.

Robb called attention to the fact that the Fullerton church will hold but 600 persons, and so he urged all those who plan to attend to come early and be sure of getting a seat. The church, he said, is located in Fullerton at the corner of Wilshire and Pomona streets.

Ex-senator Frank A. Arbutick, Los Angeles, will be one of the featured speakers at the mass meeting, it was announced. The speaker is well known here, having spoken several times in Orange county before. He was chairman of the national Townsend convention held in Chicago last fall.

The other main speaker on the program will be Ted E. Felt, area manager for the 12th and 15th California districts. Felt has his headquarters in Pomona.

A musical program will be an entertainment feature of the meeting.

CRUDE OIL PRICES AT H. B. INCREASED

Crude oil prices in the Huntington Beach field were increased by the Standard Oil Company of California at 7 a. m. today. The increase in the beach area was part of a price boosting program effective in five Standard oil fields in the state. Other fields affected are: Playa Del Rey, Santa Fe Springs, Signal Hill and Kern front.

The advances paralleled those announced recently for 21 other fields which joined in crude oil curtailment and conservation program.

The new prices brought the base price for 27 gravity "Signal Hill" oil to $1.10. A five cents a barrel increase for heavy crude in the Kern Front field, was ordered.

DR. BENSHIMOL TALKS TONIGHT AGAINST TIT

Tonight the Institute of Liberal Religion hears Dr. Alfred L. Benschimol, principal of the Belmont high school in Los Angeles, speak on "Schools in the New Society." He will be introduced by Lynn M. Crawford, principal of Santa Ana high school. Dr. Benschimol is on the board of the Los Angeles Unitarian church, and has long been interested in problems of liberal education. He addressed the Unitarian picnic in Long Beach last spring and delighted the Santa Ana attendants to the extent of being asked to return for the institute this winter.

Tomorrow evening the institute closes with an address by Dr. Edwin Diller Starbuck, director of the Institute of Character Research at the University of Southern California, who will speak on "The Crisis of Religion and Religion's Challenge." Dr. Starbuck was recently feted on his 70th birthday in Mudd hall, by the president and faculty of the university. A volume of essays by his pupils, with a biography of Dr. Starbuck, is soon to be off the press in his honor. Dr. Starbuck was graduated from Harvard in 1890, and served as professor in the department of philosophy at the State University of Iowa for 24 years.

Part of Dr. Starbuck's recent activity has been the conduct of a survey of religious attitudes in young people in the middle west and southern California. He will present the survey's findings tomorrow night, analyze concisely the basal elements in religion, hunt their depth and perpetuity and present the one chance of institutionalized religion to hold out.

Arthur Casey, who will give several dramatic readings at the First Methodist Episcopal church on Sunday evening.

Yachiel Lindsay's beautiful poetic chant, "The Congo," and "Roots," by Rudyard Kipling, will be highlights on the program of dramatic readings to be presented by Arthur Casey at the First Methodist Episcopal church Sunday evening. Another interesting feature will be a dramatic excerpt of Patrick Henry's famous "Give me liberty or give me death" speech.

Mr. Casey is a former Santa Ana Junior College dramatic student, and is well known in Orange county, having appeared successfully as a dramatic reader before the Santa Ana Ebell club, the Orange Rotary club, Santa Ana Junior college, and various other Orange County audiences.

While attending Santa Ana Junior college Mr. Casey played principal parts in several major dramatic productions there, and wrote four plays, all of which were published in the college literary magazine. One of the plays, "King Native," has become well known, having had numerous stage and radio productions.

Upon graduation from junior college Mr. Casey was offered a scholarship to a Hollywood dramatic school, but chose to study Shakespeare at home preparatory to learn Shakespearean acting. He is at present playing the part of Professor Saddler in the radio drama, "King Cole," heard weekly on Radio Station KVOE.

Wisconsin game laws state that every picker under 16 inches must be thrown back, but the maximum length of true picker there is only 12 inches.

Practically everything but a rubber neck is on display at the New York Museum of Science and Industry, in the exhibit of the B. F. Goodrich company, according to Orval Lyon, manager of Santa Ana's Goodrich Silvertown stores, who received description of the exhibit this week.

Eighteen different tires, each designed for a separate transportation need, are shown. Among many other rubber products on exhibition are hose, belting, packing, matting, zipper coats, brief cases, footwear, bathing suits, caps, capes, rubber bands, card table covers, hot water bottles, gloves, throat bags, plating racks, battery casings, press rolls and de-icers for airplane wheels.

"Much of the exhibit is given over to an outline of the part played by laboratory research in development of rubber goods for many purposes," Lyon said. "A huge map, showing the widely separated parts of the nation and world from which come the many materials which finally find their way into the finished rubber product is one feature. Steps in building a tire are shown clearly."

"One of the most interesting parts of the display is the collection of varied ingredients in glass containers, in exact proportions as they go into manufacture of rubber goods. As many as 46 ingredients, combined with crude rubber to make a particular product, are exhibited in one group."

Then Asa emerged, and without a word put on his cap and set out from the little house. He felt that he had one more duty to perform.

"How's Mama?" he ventured, at last, to Nurse Kennedy. On her assurance, Asa cautiously drew the curtains of the little alcove and entered, to sit by the bedside where lay his wife. Soft, commiserating sounds came to the nurse as the couple discussed in awed tones the miracle which they had seen and of which they had heard. Through the night, bouncing dangerously over the narrow, rutted road, went Constable Ogden.

The flickering kerosene lamps cast weird shadows on the board walls as doctor and nurse moved swiftly about the room. Sleep twinged at the eyes of both, but vigilance could not for a single second be relaxed. Without the warmth provided by oven-heated blankets and hot bricks, they knew that the tiny babies would have little chance to survive.

The screech of brakes told them that Constable Jim had returned, and a glance at the battered alarm clock that stood crookedly on a shelf above the stove told him that he had done it in 45 minutes. Nurse Kennedy seized the hot-water bottle and filled it from a kettle on the stove. At last, a heating device that would stay hot and provide some semblance of the incubator that they badly needed!

Dr. Luke prepared to feed the babies with the eye-dropper. After some hesitation he decided that nothing more substantial than warm water should be offered them, and, on his knees beside the basket on the floor, he delicately administered a few drops to each.

The frightened fawn of his almost no help at all. He crouched miserably in a corner, murmuring self-reproaches, asking no one in particular what in the world he was going to do, now that five more mouths were to be fed. He had had a hard enough time feeding the six other children, what with the babies were, and all. When babies came one at a time, you could sort of get used to that, but five!

From time to time Wyatt would sneak quietly out, and for an hour or more nothing would be seen of him. But doctor, nurse and constable had plenty to do, and missed him little, noting only, with a grim smile that the chair in the corner was vacant.

"Just like Napoleon running out on the battle of Waterloo," said Nurse Kennedy to the doctor, expertly folding a warm blanket. "Gosh!" replied Dr. Luke. "I don't know that I blame him. The whole thing's kind of like a dream, anyway."

There was beginning to be a gray suggestion of dawn over the rocky hills and dark woods behind the house when Dr. Luke knelt before the basket and baptized all five babies. With a drop of warm water moistening the brow of each child, he murmured the words of blessing and consecration.

Mrs. Wyatt was resting easily, and the house seemed strangely calm after the excitement of the night. Gradually streaks of dawn began to appear above the still, dark pine-wooded hills.

Temporary headquarters were arranged for Nurse Kennedy. Dr. Luke prepared to go back to town

The Country Doctor

A Novelization of the Twentieth Century-Fox Film, Starring the Dionne Quintuplets With Jean Herscholt, Dorothy Peterson, June Lang, Michael Whalen and Slim Summerville

BEGIN HERE TODAY

DR. JOHN LUKE, country doctor in the little north woods settlement of Moosestown, goes to Montreal to appeal to company officials to give Moosestown a hospital.

His nephew, TOM, who flew to Moosestown with antidiphtheria serum, remains there, much interested in MARY MACKENZIE, daughter of the lumber company manager. The two admit their love for each other but MACKENZIE, determined to end the romance, forces Tom into a fight, later obliges him to leave Moosestown.

In Montreal Dr. Luke's appeal is refused. He returns to Moosestown to replace him. It is discovered that Dr. Luke has never received a license to practice and he is threatened with arrest.

There seems nothing to do but leave. Dr. Luke goes to the boat about to depart, when ASA WYATT appears, begging the doctor to come to his aid.

Dr. Luke goes. Instead of one baby, five are born.

CHAPTER XII

Asa Wyatt stood like a man suddenly stricken dumb. He struggled to speak, but words dropped haltingly from his frozen lips.

"You—sure—there—aint—any more?" This horrified suggestion broke the tension for Dr. Luke. He chuckled as he replied: "That's all, Asa—positively!"

Wyatt was still stunned, like a man who has just received a physical blow. "But what'll I do? I had six—now I got eleven! What'll my friends say?" he murmured miserably.

"You ought to be a proud man, Asa," reassured Dr. Luke. "I ought to be dead!" Wyatt mumbled, almost inaudibly.

"Now, now, Asa, don't feel that way. Go in to Mama and smile! Tell her you're happy, proud. Tell her you love 'em all!"

Asa shuffled toward the curtains of the alcove. Constable Ogden cleared his throat. He was remembering his duty, the thing he hated, but had to do.

Dr. Luke and Nurse Kennedy moved in a shuttle-like manner from the basket near the stove into the curtained alcove to attend the mother and back to the basket. Mrs. Wyatt, while coming through the ordeal in remarkably fine condition, required constant care, and the faint cries from the basket were a reminder that the babies, too, could not be left alone for a moment.

Gradually their cries grew more insistent. "Look here, Jim," said Dr. Luke abruptly. "We've got to have two things—an eye-dropper and a hot-water bottle. How long would it take you to get 'em, town get 'em, and bring 'em back? These babies' lives may depend on how fast you can do it!"

"Ought to do it under an hour," said Jim, already half into his coat. In a jiffy he was out the door and the roar of a motor was heard. Through the night, bouncing dangerously over the narrow, rutted road, went Constable Ogden.

The flickering kerosene lamps cast weird shadows on the board walls as doctor and nurse moved swiftly about the room. Sleep twinged at the eyes of both, but vigilance could not for a single second be relaxed. Vivid accounts of the Oriental wanderings just now being enjoyed by Tagge O. Carlson on his vacation months from duties as teller at Security National bank, are being received by Frank Was, manager, and others of the banking staff.

It was before the Christmas holidays that Carlson left Santa Ana after having secured an extended leave of absence from his duties. He has been spending intervening weeks in Japan, where several valuable introductions have paved the way for many pleasant courtesies extended him. He writes glowingly of the Japanese acquaintances he has made, and of the hospitality shown him. The clear brisk weather has made sightseeing a pleasure, and he has visited many of the important cities.

His latest letter indicated plans for departure about this time for Shanghai, and renewal acquaintance with Loren Mead, former Santa Ana who has been in business in China for a number of years.

India, Borneo, Java, Sumatra, Egypt and North Africa are all on Carlson's itinerary, and he also will visit Italy, Switzerland and other European countries en route to his former home, Stockholm, where he will be welcomed by his two brothers, one in the wholesale drug business and the other in a bank. Carlson is traveling by freighter, thus enabled to visit many ports and cities where passenger liners do not stop. He expects to be absent from Santa Ana approximately ten months.

The editor's flying pencil rapidly noted the facts. "You needn't worry about the charges, Mr. Wyatt," he shouted into the phone. "There won't be any—and I'll be right out to see 'em myself."

The receiver clicked in Wyatt's ear. Within a very few minutes, a bulletin was humming over the telegraph wires from Moosestown to the outside world:

"MOOSESTOWN, Can.—Five girl babies were born last night to Mrs. ASA WYATT. . . . Editors throughout the world hurriedly thumbed atlases. Promoters inquired frenziedly for plane charter rates. Long-distance telephone wires began to hum. Within a matter of hours the civilized world was turning a staid and sympathetic eye toward the north Canadian wilds.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

— News Behind the News —

WASHINGTON

FATAL

Key power figures have engaged in a back-stage controversy with lawyers for the Duke Power company of South Carolina. The outcome of the arguments will determine the private utilities' strategy in future conflicts with the New Deal.

The Duke crowd has announced that it will appeal immediately from the court decision in favor of PWA's right to finance local power plants. That program may precipitate a supreme court showdown before the June recess, provided the government accepts the challenge promptly. But the Duke allies prefer that a final decision be deferred until next fall or even later. So they are trying to persuade the South Carolina company to accept its licking or stall an appeal.

The main idea behind the demand for delay seems to be that the people will pass more effective judgment in November than the court will. Should F. D. R. be defeated, the power companies anticipate that the drive to lower rates by building great dams and municipal plants will be stopped or sharply modified. And there is always the chance that the money may run out before the court untangles the 50-odd injunctions which now block erection of competing systems. A quick pro-government decision in the Duke litigation would be fatal to the private interests.

RECORD

When HOLC Chairman Fahey was summoned to Washington to salvage the housing corporation, he found it full of politicians from cellar to rafters. Perhaps nobody in Washington matched him inousting the patronage boys from key rooms.

Now he's quietly going over his books to separate the sweet from the sour mortgages Uncle Sam has underwritten. Whenever he pins responsibility for making bad loans on a subordinate, he asks for a resignation. He is determined that no hostile administration in the future shall make political capital out of his undertaking. Like many other agency heads, he hopes to keep clear of scandal. But the politicians don't like his methods. Instead of firing Democratic office-holders individually responsible for blunders, they want him to cover up records of mistakes. He's thinking of the party warfare, they're worrying over their Democratic friends. But F. D. R. is backing the soft-spoken, goateed business man who refuses to mortgage the political homestead at 1600 Pennsylvania avenue.

SOLONS

President Roosevelt is remaking the federal judiciary faster than most people realize. His numerous appointments of New Deal judges sharpens the issue raised by Senator Dickinson — namely, that Rooseveltians will dominate the bench if he is re-elected.

In three years, Mr. Roosevelt has had the appointment of about 20 per cent of the membership of the federal district court and 10 per cent of circuit court personnel. Most of the places fell vacant during the last year, for Taft, Wilson and even Harding appointees are growing old. Actuarial figures indicate that he will reconstruct at least 75 per cent of the lower court and 50 per cent of the circuit court from 1936 to 1940. He may have the naming of two members of the supreme court — men to replace Justices McReynolds and Sutherland, both conservatives.

In most instances, Mr. Roosevelt has named New Deal believers, which explains why he has fared better in lower courts than before the high tribunal. His closest advisers are jubilant at this unnoted development. They frequently assure each other that it must be through the courts. For the judges make the law these days.

BLISS

WASHINGTON, March 7. — A secondary leader in the senate

was one of the few who rushed out with a statement approving President Roosevelt's corporation tax reform program. He thought it was a good statement until someone pointed out to him that dividends are not subject to normal taxes, as his statement erroneously assumed.

Conversely a flock of congressmen hurried forth with heavy attacks on the program because it would deprive corporations of all the reserves they have built up. They turned pink when they learned that the tax was on future undistributed earnings, not past ones.

Kind-hearted newsmen wisely kept most of this unstatesmanlike ignorance from the public eye. But their charitable sympathy was not devoid of amazement.

The situation explains the ensuing congressional silence.

Note: One of the few congressmen who really knows taxes is Chairman Sam Hill of the house sub-committee which is considering the legislation.

CONDENSATION

A shrewd White House authority explained the whole background of the corporation tax reform program better than anyone else. He hollered down all phases of the subject (the dire predicament of Mr. Roosevelt being forced by the house and court decisions into championing taxes in a campaign year, the political advantages of attacking the big corporations). These ideas and others he condensed into a simple sentence (not for quotation):

"Mr. Roosevelt has been able to make an asset out of a political liability."

FRENZY

The extent of enthusiasm in congress for anything remotely connected with taxes is illustrated by what happened the other day in a senate committee.

The committee was called for a hearing about a new tax idea which might produce $200,000,000 of additional revenue by an administrative change in the liquor tax law. At least, a certain private promotional agency was ready to testify that it would. Agency officers were on hand ready to explain. The distilling representatives were on hand to oppose.

One senator appeared. He sat around for 15 minutes, half an hour, 45 minutes awaiting the appearance of the rest of the committee. At that point he arose, put on his hat and walked out, saying:

"I am a busy man, but my 20 colleagues on this committee are apparently busier—elsewhere. The hearing is off."

Weather Changes

Call for Modern Cooling Systems

Rapidly fluctuating temperatures of the present season here, mark the need for perfectly functioning water-cooling system, according to Murray Rosenfeld, general manager of the Pep Boys of California.

"Variations of as high as 35 degrees in 24 hours place an unusual burden on radiator, water pump and connections," Rosenfeld said. "With the vacation season a few months away, this is the time to begin preliminary motor check-ups. Cooling systems should be cleaned, stop-leak fluid used to repair minor leaks in the radiator core, and water pumps inspected. We recommend and guarantee Varity radiator stop-leak and carry large supplies of radiator replacement cores for standard makes of cars. Our local store at 211 North Main, carries complete selection of repair parts for this important section of the motor."

Eleven is used to good advantage. This rule is a method by which the drawing of inference may be simplified, when it is known that a player has selected for his opening lead the fourth best card of those he held in the suit led. The rule derives its name from the fact that when the denomination of a fourth best is subtracted from eleven, the remainder is equal to the number of cards of that suit, not in the leader's hand, which are higher than the card led. For example: If a seven be led, there are four cards of the suit higher than the seven which are not in the leader's hand.

The partner of the leader can tell, by making the subtraction and noting how many of the remaining cards are in dummy and his own hand, and also how many are in the hand of the declarer. Naturally the declarer may make similar deductions respecting the hands of leader and leader's partner.

As a rule, it is only when the small card led is a six or higher that the Rule of Eleven gives information of value. Occasionally it may be profitably employed with a smaller lead.

However, the lead of a ten spot or nine may often be the top of nothing. This Rule of Eleven is used to advantage in a no-trump contract more than in others, and the lead is more simply figured if it is a seven or six spot.

The bidding and seeing the dummy usually gives the third hand somewhat of a picture and he can play accordingly to his partner's leads.

The solution of last week's dummy hand will appear next week.

The partner of the leader can tell, by making the subtraction and noting how many of the remaining cards are in dummy and his own hand, and also how many are in the hand of the declarer. Naturally the declarer may make similar deductions respecting the hands of leader and leader's partner.

As a rule, it is only when the small card led is a six or higher that the Rule of Eleven gives information of value. Occasionally it may be profitably employed with a smaller lead.

However, the lead of a ten spot or nine may often be the top of nothing. This Rule of Eleven is used to advantage in a no-trump contract more than in others, and the lead is more simply figured if it is a seven or six spot.

The bidding and seeing the dummy usually gives the third hand somewhat of a picture and he can play accordingly to his partner's leads.

The solution of last week's dummy hand will appear next week.

MENE MAY BE 'MEANIE' FOR ANGEL FOES THIS SEASON

Joe Mene, the long-legged Anaheim Frenchman, is "high" in the training camp of the Los Angeles Angels.

"The onetime softball player (he saw service with Santa Ana, Anaheim, Garden Grove and Westminster at one time or another during a checked career on the abbreviated diamond) is touted as a coming star of the first magnitude. He may even win a first string berth with the Seraphs this season, his second in organized baseball.

"Writes Neil McDonald of the Herald-Express, today's guest conductor:

"He may be a 'meanie' for the other Coast League teams but Joe Mene is nothing but a great big package of joy for the Los Angeles Angels as they make ready for another assault on a Coast League championship.

"You can take Manager Jack Laville's word for it. Let him have the floor.

"This fellow Mene is one of our outstanding prospects among the new fellows trying out here and it is altogether probable that he may win himself a regular position in the outfield."

"Mene is one of the Angel 'graduates.' He played with the Pasadena City club last season and led the league in hitting with a mark of .348, which is considerable slapping in any league.

"Even the inexperienced eye can detect a bit of ball playing ability in this slim fellow out here at the Angels' training camp. He looks like something when standing at the plate and the flagpole in center field here, which is farther away from home plate than at Wrigley field, gets an unimpaired beating when this lad cracks one.

"The boys on the team say he is a past master on bunts, too, and is much faster than the ordinary human when it comes to circling the bases. Defensively, he is as fine a player as he is a

WINNER PLAYS HUSKY QUINTET FOR P.C. TITLE

Radio KFAC (1300 kilocycles) will broadcast the Southern California-Stanford basketball game tonight, beginning at 8 o'clock.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, March 7.—Stanford and U. S. C. clash tonight for the right to meet University of Washington in a post-season playoff series to determine the winner of the 1936 Pacific Coast conference basketball championship.

Stanford, rated as a superior scoring team against S. C.'s better floor and ball-handling game, apparently was in top form for the Washington game. The lineup will include Howell Turner and Angelo (Hank) Luisetti, forwards, Art Stoen at center, and John Caldwell and "Dinty" Moore at the guard positions.

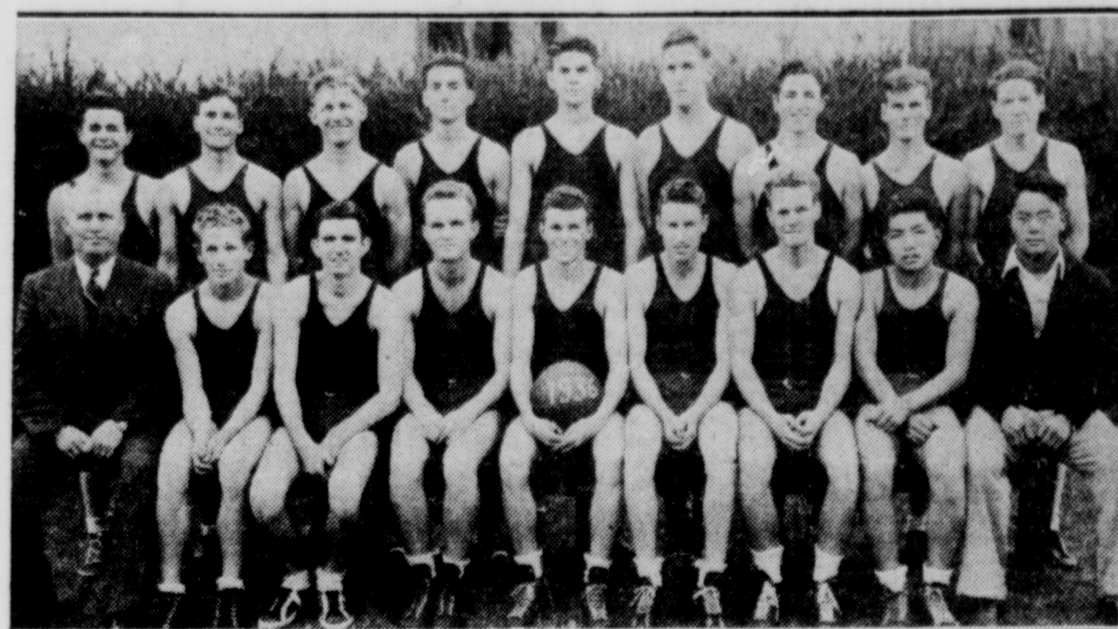

Coach Sam Barry brought a squad of 14, one more than usual, here this morning. He said he would start Ward Browning and Jerry Graden, forwards; Jack Hupp, center, and Eddie Oram and Bob Muth at guard.

Stanford and Southern California have met four times this season and the Indians hold three victories, the first series win they've ever scored against a Barry-coached Trojan team. Stanford has lost only one game on its own floor this season, that to U. C. L. At Washington, Stanford won the Northern division conference championship last night by defeating Oregon State, 39 to 30, in the first of a two-game championship series.

Oregon State, defending titlist, lost its chance to win the crown by losing last night's game, although the teams met again tonight.

In another Northwest contest, Washington State clinched third place by defeating University of Oregon, 44 to 30.

'ON TO SAN DIEGO' OILER CRY

Adequate representation is assured Orange county in the Southern California prep basketball playoffs by the crack Huntington Beach squad, shown here. Champions of the Orange league, Huntington Beach plays San Diego of the Coast league in San Diego tonight.

Santa Ana's Latter Day Saints were homeward bound today following their elimination from the National Mormons basketball tournament at Salt Lake City. The Santa Ana troupe was beaten by Twin Falls, Ida., 28-26, in the consolation flight last night.

Symbolic of the other game Coach Bernard ("Bus") Snow's gang played earlier in the week the contest was close throughout with Santa Ana's late rally falling short by two points. Other tourney contests found the Ogden defending champions marching on toward a second title by defeating Salt Lake City Third ward, 42-19.

Members of the Santa Ana squad are Charles Denio, George Padias, LeRoy Sears, Ernie Acker, E. White, Ellsworth Teter, Bob Blanchard, players, and Coach Bernard Snow and Manager Vernon Williams. Men driving cars are Dr. S. J. Francis and Fred Walker.

After losing an 11-8 decision at Riverside jaysee yesterday, Santa Ana high school's baseball team today looked forward to a full week of activity, beginning Tuesday at Fullerton. The Saints travel to Glendale Wednesday, meet Whittier here Thursday, and Riverside jaysee again Friday.

A 6-6 tie in the sixth inning was broken by a five-run rally by the Riverside aggregation. The Saints, however, scored two runs in the seventh, but were checked when Pitcher Peterson was replaced by Cosper.

Getting four scattered hits in as many innings, the Saints were able to muster three runs. In the fifth they were held in check, and it was not until the next period that Santa Ana's time came.

With one walk, Shortstop Harold Short walked, took second on first baseman Jeffrey's error and stole third. Youel fanned. Jesse walked and stole second. Norman Wyckoff scored both when he tripped. Art Nieblas doubled, scoring Wyckoff.

Coach Clyde Cook's clan scored again in the seventh with two, but was held scoreless the rest of the game.

Hurling seven innings, Pitcher Joe Ortega permitted 13 hits to 7 by Peterson who also went seven innings.

Outfielder Reed Hastings of Riverside poled out five straight hits for a perfect day.

Ball Player's Mustache Gets In Casey's Hair

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 7. (UP)—Stanley Bordagaray, Brooklyn outfielder, almost created a panic today when he reported to the training camp with a mustache.

Bordagaray arrived from Los Angeles explaining that the mustache helped him get jobs during the winter as a movie extra.

"I'll have to use him in the infield so the customers can get a better look at what he has on his upper lip," Manager Casey Stengel said.

With only the first five ranking Orange county players excluded—thus eliminating Josephine Cruickshank, Marjorie Lauderbach, Mildred Ward, Katherine Wood and Melva Roquet—the Santa Ana Tennis club tomorrow promotes a novice singles tournament for women tennis players.

Play begins at 10 a. m. on the courts at Frances Willard junior high school, and entries will be accepted until that hour. The playing fee is 75 cents, and there will be a consolation flight for first round losers.

Frankie Frisch, manager and second sacker of the St. Louis Cardinals, has stolen more bases than any other active player in the National league. Frank has 417 to his credit. "Kiki" Cuyler, of the Cincinnati Reds, ranks second with 296.

FAT GASTANAGA EASY PREY FOR GIANT CARNERA

NEW YORK, March 7.—(UP)—While Primo Carnera dreams of winning back the heavyweight title, the New York state athletic commission faced a stormy legal battle today as an aftermath of last night's fight in which Carnera scored a 5-round technical knockout over Isidoro Gastanaga of Spain.

Gastanaga, fat and out of condition, was at the mercy of the awkward Italian except for a few brief flurries.

Carnera opened a gash over Gastanaga's right eye in the fourth round, and Referee Arthur Donen stopped the bout after 46 seconds of the fifth round when the Spaniard indicated he was ready to quit. A crowd of 8834 paid $18.380 to see the bout in Madison Square Garden.

Carnera weighed 268 1-4, Gastanaga 268 1-4.

Efforts of Sally King to force the New York commission to call off the bout because of his charge that both fighters were managed by Louis Sorel, caused the boxing board to continue their investigation into the dealings Sorel had with Gastanaga.

Hunnefeld dispatched the message after Carnera had defeated Isidoro Gastanaga of Spain last night.

"Wire your best terms to box Carnera with the understanding that if Carnera wins, he will be guaranteed a bout with Jim Braddock for the championship," the message said.

Los Angeles, March 7.—(UP)—Matchmaker Joe Waterman insisted today he had a verbal agreement for Phil Brubaker to fight in Los Angeles April 14, but would waive his claims if the young Dinuba heavyweight gets a chance at Primo Carnera at Madison Square Garden.

"I have a contract with Brubaker to fight at the Olympic auditorium here, and a verbal agreement on the date," Waterman said. "But I won't stand in the way of his getting a chance at the Garden. He's a nice kid."

In refusing Lyman's request, Bingham pointed out: "With five or six athletes' here capable of beating 51 feet, we cannot pick Johnny on his 1934 performance or allow him to make his own puts in Germany. On the day of the tryouts here the weather conditions might be entirely different."

LYMAN MUST MAKE TEAM IN AMERICA

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., March 7.—(UP)—Johnny Lyman, Stanford's great shotputter, must return to America if he hopes to make the United States Olympic team, William J. Bingham, track and field chairman, announced today.

Lyman, now a student in Germany, had asked permission to take his tryouts abroad.

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., March 7.—(UP)—Mrs. Opal Hill, of Kansas City, whose magnificent putter carried her to an exciting 2 and 1 semi-finals victory over Patty Berg, meets defending champion Maureen Orcutt Crews of Miami in the finals of the Florida East Coast golf championship today.

MRS. HILL'S PUTTER STOPS PATTY BERG

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., March 7.—(UP)—Mrs. Opal Hill, of Kansas City, whose magnificent putter carried her to an exciting 2 and 1 semi-finals victory over Patty Berg, meets defending champion Maureen Orcutt Crews of Miami in the finals of the Florida East Coast golf championship today.

Country Club's Golfers Meet Coronado

Out to maintain their slim lead in Group 5 of the S. C. G. A. inter-club league, Santa Ana Country club's golfers tomorrow tee off against Coronado on the San Diego Country club's course at Chula Vista.

Present standings find Santa Ana on top of the heap with 23 points, closely followed by San Diego and Hacienda which have ratings of 21-1-2. Coronado ranks fourth with 17 1-2 with Palos Verdes and Fox Hills trailing with 12-1-2 and 9, respectively. The latter two teams have a postponed match that will be played off at the end of the season.

As the matches are run off in handicap style of play, the Santa Ana clubmen will have to spot Coronado five holes. Santa Ana's slightly revised lineup: No. 1, Ed Holmes and Bill Foote; No. 2, Dick Ewert and Earl Wilson; No. 3, J. K. McDonald and H. S. Wright; No. 4, L. D. Coffing and L. W. Bemis; No. 5, L. H. Robinson and Ben Manker; No. 6, W. C. Fletcher and Ray Chapman; No. 7, F. E. Farnsworth and M. N. Thompson.

The bell rang and Thomas walked across the ring to Bell's corner. "Porky" bluffed with his left and landed a crisp right—to the point of Thomas' chin. The Ontario boxer dropped as if he had been sandbagged. He got up at 9, and Bell headed him with the same punch, a straight right hand that found the button again. Thomas collapsed. Referee Frank Holbrook counted him out. Thomas had to be assisted to his corner. He was in bad shape.

First "Fall" in 4 Rounds

The "fight" ended in 24 seconds. Timer Danny Daniels said the first knockdown came in 4 seconds. Thomas was up at 9 and it took Bell approximately one second more to bang over his second payoff punch. Holbrook's 10-second toll conceded the rest of the time.

Thomas has fought here several times, never gave evidence of a glass chin. Only last week he traveled four rounds against Uffe Davis, a Sherman Indian. The indication is that Bell is a good, straight puncher. Whether he has anything else on the ball remains to be seen. He wasn't in the firing pit long enough to tell.

"Porky" will make his second appearance in a ring next Friday night against an opponent as yet unselected. Interviewed today, he said he "was as surprised as anybody else" at the brevity of the bout with Thomas.

The main event between Lupe LeMon, Fullerton heavyweight, and Hank Lowe emphasized LeMon's superiority over Southern California's amateurs. LeMon won the first three rounds by a wide margin, shelling the taller, heavier black man with both hands. Lowe scored with a series of rights in the fourth, winning that heat, but LeMon deserved the decision. Only the anti-LeMon section dissented.

Match LeMon with Kimball

LeMon heads next week's card with Sailor "Buck" Kimball. Paul Brown and Mike Reyes were rematched after a sensational fourth round slugfest, surprising climax to an otherwise unexciting semi-windup. Brown won, but it was close.

Young Terry decisively outpointed "Buck" Durbin, now of Fort MacArthur. It was a mismatch, Terry being altogether too tall and heavy for the onetime Saint running guard.

All in all it was a bad night for the House of Durbin. "Buck's" brother, Harry, was belted out by Ken Holliday of Anaheim in less than a minute.

"Queen" Errearte, San Juan Capistrano, scored a technical knockout over Profit Ransom in an unorthodox heavyweight scramble. Ransom fought like a windmill, and Errearte had difficulty solving the Negro's style, but once he got his bearings gave Ransom a shellacking. Holbrook stopped it with Ransom reeling like a radio wave.

Nieblas Out of Condition

Scallions to Hi Gill, the old midweight, and Referee Holbrook for letting "Tuffy" Nieblas take an unnecessary lot of punishment from Bill Montgomery in the second spot! Nieblas not only was outclassed but out of condition. He was so exhausted in the third round that he actually fell without a hand being laid on him, yet both Gill and Holbrook let him get up and take some more. Montgomery finally scored a technical k. o. in the fourth.

BRUBAKER ASKS GARDEN FOR 'BEST TERMS'

STOCKTON, March 7.—(UP)—Billy Hunnefeld, manager of Phil Brubaker, California heavyweight "white hope," placed the Dinuba youth definitely in the field as a challenger for Champion James J. Braddock's title today.

His nomination was made in a telegram to Jimmy Johnston, Madison Square Garden promoter, asking Johnston to state his "best terms" for a proposed bout between Primo Carnera and Brubaker.

Hunnefeld dispatched the message after Carnera had defeated Isidoro Gastanaga of Spain last night.

Olympic Claims Brubaker Signed To Box April 14

LOS ANGELES, March 7.—(UP)—Matchmaker Joe Waterman insisted today he had a verbal agreement for Phil Brubaker to fight in Los Angeles April 14, but would waive his claims if the young Dinuba heavyweight gets a chance at Primo Carnera at Madison Square Garden.

Softball League For County Girls Likely

Softball for girls, with an all-star wrinkle, is likely to be the latest thing in Orange county athletics this summer. Plans have progressed to such an extent that three Santa Ana merchants—Jim DeLorenzo, Darwin Scott and Bob Fernandez—have agreed to sponsor teams here. The Orange American Legion is prepared to enter a club in a proposed Orange County league and Anaheim also has indicated it wants a franchise. No difficulty securing a sixth starter is anticipated.

The Santa Ana teams will play under the banners of the Green Cat cafe, Scottie's Malt shop and the Tiernan Type-writer company.

Justice Kenneth Morrison, president of the City league, has assured the promoters that his organization will co-operate to the fullest extent and, if need be, the girls' league under its wing. Games here will be played at the Municipal Bowl on nights the field is not being used by the Stars and City leaguers.

Among Santa Ana lassies petitioning for the game are Pat Collins, Evelyn Kent, Elsie Kolx, Ruth Lee and Bobbie Wakeham, pitchers; Ruth Anderson, Phyllis Farquhar, Laura Mae Kent, N. Sullivan and Mary Wilson, catchers; Norma Lundak, Marie Mandersheid, Maxine Wallace, Rae Langley, Nora Mae Bingle, Grace Birge, Pauline Chapman, Dora Haupt, Helen Koral, Elaine Lackey, Florence Nelson, Helen Messenger, Mary Ortiz, Helen Peterson, Evelyn Richards, Jean Russick, Marcelle Shan-aftelt and Jessie Ferris.

Montebello Takes 40 Of Brea's 44 Medals

By taking eight of the nine events, Coach S. B. Rough's Montebello track team monopolized the seventh annual Brea-Olinda Prep relays yesterday.

By virtue of their victories, the Montebello team took the trophy and 40 of the 44 medals. Only L. C. Thorne's Corona quartet in the four-man half mile relay broke into their scoring activities.

In rolling up 43 points, Montebello virtually took a medal for each point scored. The Terriers also set two new meet records.

Stewart White's Orange Panthers were second with 16 points. Corona and Citrus tied for third with place honors.

Montebello started the day by shattering Orange's 1935 record for eight-man mile relay in a two-mile relay of a second. The Orange team ran second, but never seriously challenged Montebello.

Even the Montebello coach was surprised when his Class B and C runners turned in a two-mile relay in 3 minutes and 56.5 seconds to defeat the favorite Orange runners. He had entered the men to gain experience. They got medals.

The third race, a four-man 440, justified one of the closest finishes of the 44 medals. Yesterday's holder being out "Bud" Tinsley, of Huntington Beach at the tape.

Montebello challenged Corona's lead in the four-man medley, 110-220-440-880, to set a new record formerly held by Newport Harbor. The Terriers overtook Corona at the three-quarter mark on the final lap in a three-way finish that saw Montebello battle both Corona and Orange.

Another nose to nose finish was Montebello's eight-man half mile relay. Myer Bugbee nosed out Robins of Newport Harbor just a step from the tape.

Larry Valere, of Valencia, ran the best individual race. The Huntington Beach anchor man nosed him out by a stride for the third place post but Valere made it possible for Valencia to score its lone point.

The results:

Eight-man mile (220-yds. each)—Won by Montebello, second, Corona, Huntington Beach, third, Citrus, fourth. Time: 3m 10s. New record. Score: 43 to 16 to 11 to 10.

Four-man two-mile (880-yds. each)—

BREVITY 4 TO 5 IN KY. DERBY PREVIEW

MIAMI, Fla., March 7.—(UP)—An unofficial preview and dress rehearsal for the Kentucky Derby will be put on today in the ninth and last Florida Derby around the flamingo-decorated Hialeah Race track.

The horse to beat was Brevity, winner of three of his four races. A strapping bay colt, Brevity, owned by Joseph E. Widener, top man of the Hialeah racing plant, may go to the post the most heavily backed favorite in the history of the southern fixture which hereafter will be known as the Flamingo Stakes.

Probable odds on Brevity were 4 to 5. Prices of 6 to 1 were probable for the Maemore farm's Maeriel, and "Pete" Bostwick's Bright Plumeage was rated a 10 to 1 possibility and if the winner is not found among these, the long shot players will have had a day.

For 30 to 1 or better were the probable prices on the others in the field of 11 except for Mrs. P. A. B. Widener's Dnieper, which will run with Brevity as an entry.

Brevity's last win was in the Washington Day purse which he took in a breeze by four lengths. He will have Wayne Wright as his ride.

Shuttle race (120-yds. five laps)—Won by Montebello, Newport Harbor second; Citrus, third; Brea-Olinda, fourth. Time: 5m 56.5s.

Eight-man half mile (110-yds. each)—Won by Montebello; Newport Harbor second; Orange, third; Citrus, fourth. Time: 3m 10s.

Four-man half mile (220-yds. each)—Won by Corona; Montebello, second; Citrus, third; Tustin, fourth. Time: 3m 23.4s.

Four-man medley (110-220-440-880-yds. each)—Won by Montebello; Orange, second; Huntington Beach, third; Valencia, fourth. Time: 3m 23.4s.

Four-man mile (440-yds. each)—Won by Corona; Citrus, second; El Monte, third; Orange, fourth. Time: 3m 35.4s.

Scoring

Montebello, 43; Orange, 16; Citrus, 10; Corona, 10; Huntington Beach, 9; El Monte, 8; Newport Harbor, 3; Tustin, 2; Brea-Olinda, 1; Valencia, 1; Anaheim, Laguna Beach and Puente did not score.

SAINT TENNIS MEN VANQUISH RIVERSIDE

Showing vast superiority in all lines of play, Santa Ana high school's netters, yesterday defeated the Riverside prep tennis team, 27-9, at Riverside.

Huntington Beach To Vote On Four Propositions

CITIZENS WILL DECIDE WATER PROJECT ISSUE

HUNTINGTON BEACH, March 7.—Building and improvement projects, proposal for a municipal water system and civil service for police and firemen will be on the ballot here for the municipal election to be held April 14.

Four propositions covering the improvement and civil service items were approved last night by the city council when that group met and adopted the ordinance setting the election date.

The first proposition will ask the voters to decide whether or not the city shall exceed the five per cent increase allowed in the budget for construction of a beach pavilion to cost approximately $45,000. Under terms of the proposition the city would not spend in excess of $25,000 in the project. The remaining $20,000 would be provided through federal funds.

Whether or not the police and fire departments shall be placed under civil service is the third proposition on which the voters will be asked to express an opinion. The proposition was placed on the ballot at the request of the police and fire departments and is a part of the movement being sponsored by Southern California. CRUISE TO NOWHERE

JANE WESTON feels her dreams have come true when she sets her on a three weeks' ocean cruise, accepted in payment for the anxiety due her when the monster for which she worked as typist suspended publication.

On board the DIRK STROM, expert ski jumper, as penitent as herself to each other. Then a misunderstanding came between them. JANE JACKSON, blackmailer, and KEN MARTIN, a singer, and LINDA BAYES, show girl, entertainers.

Now go on with the story
CHAPTER XXII
The steady roar of the big blow drowned the sound of every other thing except the pounding noise of the waves and of decks awash. The great giant shuddered and shook off the countless tons of water. People simply looked at one another and asked the awesome question, "What is going to happen now?"

Nora Lane took up the Punch and Judy show, and lured small children, eyes stark with terror, into play again. The orchestra in the ballroom played, trying to drown the fears. People stood around listening, trying to forget the shrieking elements outside. Ken Martin sang.

Down in front of the orchestra sat Linda Bays, the little dancer. As Ken sang of love, his tender voice clear as a bell though he was choking with his real emotion for Linda's safety.

Ken knew that the detective thought his girl was in the know on the murder of Mannie Jackson. And even as he sang, his eyes watched the whole scene in the recreation rooms, fearful.

Something of Ken's anxiety conveyed itself to Jane, who sat momentarily charmed by Ken's crooning for love.

Jane knew what Ken's fears were. She sat close to Linda, thinking it might help Ken to know she was watching Linda, too. Feeling these things intensely Jane thought she was witnessing a love which transcended all the petty avatars of affection one heard in the course of shipboard romance.

BUT then it happened before Jane's stricken eyes. There was a freshening of the roar outside and a roll of the boat as the waves pounded amidship. Ken was flung from the orchestra stand, and going down, his head hit a corner of the piano.

When Linda reached Ken his face was white and a thin trickle of blood coursed down the side of his head. She worked feverishly over him, calling out his name, "Ken! Ken! Speak to me. Oh, Ken, speak to me!"

But the detective said, "I couldn't find Dutch Lens below."

CONCERT GIVEN BY ORCHESTRA IN BEACH CITY

LAGUNA BEACH, March 7.—The Federal Music Project orchestra, under the leadership of Leon Bekke, gave a program of instrumental, solo, vocal and ensemble music Friday night in the high school auditorium. A large crowd attended. Arras Christie Bugge, well known baritone of Santa Ana, was guest vocalist, and rendered a number of songs in various languages, including "Dio Poente," from Gounod's "Faust," "Ich Liebe Dich" in the Norwegian version by Edward Grieg, and "Who is Sylvia" by Franz Schubert.

The orchestra gave a varied program including selections from Tchaikowski, Rachmaninoff, Liszt, Offenbach, with American selections by Victor Herbert, Ethelbert Nevin and Rudolph Friml. Soloists in the orchestra included Elwood Bear, conductor of the Santa Ana Symphony orchestra, as first violinist; Edward Burns, cellist; and Georgia Bell Walton, violinist, all of whom rendered solos which were well received and enjoyed.

TREES, SHRUBS PLANTED
MIDWAY CITY, March 7.—A of the large ornamental tree and shrubs which were planted at the city Memorial Park when the park was landscaped for cemetery purposes are being taken out and new trees and shrubs planted. The growth of the trees was so great that they were interlacing, cutting off sunshine.

When I followed him. Did Dutch write you that note, warning you not to talk?"

Linda sat up, her eyes revealing the terror she had experienced in her statement. She couldn't bring herself to talk about that. "I don't know," she said. "It may have been Dutch. I know too much about him, but no more than you know. Since repeat it's blackmail—extortion. I can't connect him with the jewels."

Snowshoes rubbed the shiny bald spot on his head. He knew no more about any of the crimes than he had known at the start, and now the corpse had disappeared. Linda had disappeared with the Madam's jewel-box and was nowhere to be found. And Dutch Lens had been swallowed up somewhere in the bowels of the big ship while Snowshoes followed on his trail.

While Linda bestowed loving comforts on Ken, the orchestra began playing again. The people around them had momentarily forgotten the storm outside, but it still raged nevertheless.

JANE tried to tell the detective about the assault of the masked man below, but she had to wait until the noise abated. Then she told him.

"Why didn't you tell me this right away?" Snowshoes said, indignant. "Why the killer's loose down there below! He was trying to dispose of Linda, following up his threat. Come on," he motioned to Dirk Strom. "Let's go below and get him. If it's Dutch Lens, he's likely to have a gun by now."

But Dirk took his ground. He couldn't correlate events he had observed. "But Dutch was quaking with fear himself," he put in. "Fear of the killer. He couldn't take the exhibition of terror. Why, he screamed like a woman when you told him the corpse had disappeared. He's no actor. He's simply a yellow rat. There must be more than one man loose on board."

The winds increased their ferocity outside. Waves poured over the boat-deck and came against the portholes of the recreation rooms. Then somebody who stood at a porthole yelled, and the horrified passengers who were close by stared out on the deck. Snowshoes and Dirk ran over to a place where they could see.

Coming along the wave-swept deck in the semi-darkness, clinging to every vantage point in the lee of the wind, was Dutch Lens. He was drenched but fighting hard to reach the lounge. He pulled himself along by main strength against the wind, and in a flash of light they saw his face, white but grim. He was putting up a fight to keep from being swept overboard.

But then above the sound of fury outside a shot rang out. It was an angry little bark, and they distinctly saw the white flame in the dark.

Dutch faltered, hanging on to a post with one hand, while another went to his breast. He went to his knees slowly, and then his grip on the post relaxed. Before he had reached the floor a wave, cascading over the deck, had him under its high, and flung him overboard.

The horrified passengers stared. There was nothing body could do in this storm.

ORANGE COUNTY FREE LIBRARY NEWS NOTES

By Dorothy E. Wents, County Librarian

Books for Lenten reading are being requested by a great many people. For your information we are offering a list of recent religious books available from any of the Orange county free library branch libraries.

(Please notice the brevity and terseness of the introduction. One of our friends facetiously remarked on reading our column last week: "When do we read about the books themselves?" We didn't know whether to ignore the remark, or to take it to heart. The heart won. After all, we're quite new at this columnist business, and maybe we do use too much space in introductions.)

Social Salvation—By John C. Bennett. Dr. Bennett, of the younger group of Christian thinkers, has chosen to consider the most characteristic religious problem of the time, that of the social interpretation of Christianity. "The author recognizes that the mind's love of God is a taxing thing and that our best Christian intelligence is needed to get us out of the mess into which not only sin but circumstance has betrayed us."—Living Church.

What Did Jesus Think?—By Stanley Brown, Sherman and Harold Pritchard. The Living Church writes: "This book is the result of collaboration between a professional teacher of the New Testament and a distinguished preacher. The book is not so much a 'Life of Christ' as an interpretation in modern terms of the significance of Christ's message and work."

God and the Common Life—By R. L. Calhoun. The author is the associate professor of historical theology at Yale university. In this book he has tried to indicate the outlines of a realistic theology based on the relationship between a belief in God and the everyday, worldly affairs of common life.

A Common Faith—By John Dewey. Three lectures delivered at Yale on the Terry foundation. Mr. Dewey attempts to formulate a faith not confined to any sect or creed, and acceptable to modern men and women who feel the need of some religion in their lives.

God Among the Germans—By Paul F. Douglass. "An analysis of the Nazi mentality and of Nazi methods, with special reference to the conflict with the new paradigm."—Foreign Affairs.

Indispensable to anyone wishing an understanding of the German cultural problem.

You Can Master Life—By James Gilkey. The author is minister of a Congregational Church in Springfield, Mass., and is well known to readers through previous books, "Managing One's Own Life," "Solving Life's Everyday Problems," etc. In the present book, the first essay opposes the idea held by certain cynics and scientists that life is insignificant. He endeavors to show how Christian men and women can conquer this feeling of insignificance. The remaining essays deal with breaking the grip of worry, being oneself, overcoming personal antagonisms, adjusting oneself, doing right and gaining courage for endurance.

Science of Religion—By Nathaniel B. Hamman. "Dr. Hamman endeavors to show that between science and religion are harmony and co-operation, and not antagonism. He takes a wide, rapid survey of man, his civilization and these present times and concludes that signs point to an increasing nearness and co-operation between science and religion, to man's greater satisfaction and benefit. He concludes with the thought that 'science is the setting forth of the bare facts known. Religion is the living articulate essence that makes these dry bones live.'"—New York Times.

Realistic Theology—By W. M. Horton. "Asserting that liberalism as a theological system is dead, the author points the way toward a new, realistic theology which will take a greater interest in actual salvation and lead the way in social action. The book is made up of lectures delivered by Professor Horton at the Andover Newton Theological school in 1934."—Book Review Digest.

Christ's Alternative to Communism—By Eli Stanley Jones. "Dr. Jones sees the world facing a supreme crisis. Capitalism is breaking up under the impact of an inexorable social movement away from competition to co-operation. Whether we wish it or not, we must choose not only between the old individualistic type of society and some form of collectivism, but also between a mechanistic and one that is spiritual." Dr. Jones' something better is Christianity. A Christianity interpreted as he believes that Christ taught it and the early Christians lived it. This means that he believes this Christianity is a collectivism, and so he interprets it in a series of chapters which are radical to the core."—Books.

Ancestry of Our English Bible: an account of manuscripts, texts and versions of the Bible—By Ira M. Price. The purpose of the volume is to present in as concise and popular form as possible a description of the principal versions and texts of the Bible, from the earliest known translations and manuscripts down through the middle ages, even to modern times.

God in These Times—By H. P. Van Dusen. A slight volume, which may be regarded as a sequel to an earlier book, "The Plain Man Seeks for God." The purpose of this book is two-fold, to define the place conceded to God in the life and thought of these times, and to discover the influence he is actually exerting in men's affairs today.

What You Owe Your Child—By W. L. Sperry. The problem of religion and morals in the modern home. Modern in his viewpoint and tolerant in belief, the author presents a series of discussions for parents on the subject of the relationship between parents and children. The material in this book formed the basis of a talk given before the junior league of New York in 1933.

The Reason for Living—By R. R. Wicks. "This book has come into being after its author listened, over a period of 10 years, to the questions of thousands of college students, both men and women. In individual conversations and in conference with groups of 25 or more a wide range of minds has been represented. The most persistent questions have been preserved and after being classified under the general topics most frequently discussed, are here given in representative, if not literal form. The first portion of the book gathers together material which goes into the making of the faith we live by, and the second part concerns itself with the problems which this faith confronts in daily life."—Preface. The author is Dean of the Chapel at Princeton university.

Modern Poets

Miniature Cottage by J. Grayden Jeffries, Driftwind Press. Here is a book to set one wondering. The author has for many years lain helpless on a hospital bed and for the last year he has been blind.

Yet here is beauty that we with our eyes never see, here is courage and serenity that those who have no pain never know. The book is all poetry, fine and true, the work, to use the title of one of the poems, of honest hands. It has brought to this boy on his hospital

CROSBY FILM AND "IRISH IN US" AT STATE

The amusing happenings in a typical New York Irish family are the basis of the rousing comedy, "The Irish in Us," which plays at Walker's State theater Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. It was announced today by Manager Viv Walker.

Pat O'Brien, James Cagney and Frank McHugh have the leading roles as three brothers who really like each other very much, but who make a great show of being unable to get along together. Al Jenkins is a punch-drunk fighter who is managed by Cagney, while O'Brien is a policeman and McHugh a fireman. Mary Gordon plays the part of the mother, and Olivia de Havilland is the girl over whom the brothers battle.

Bing Crosby goes from one mirthful dilemma to another in "The Irish in Us," the second feature on the double program. As the playwright son of Mary Boland he is required to write a play for a New York producer, Lynne Overman, whose secretary, Joan Bennett, has injured Bing when her plane crashes. Acting on the suggestion of the producer's butler, an ex-producer, Bing and Joan go adventuring to secure material for the play. A seltzer-water battle in a night club is one of the hilarious spots in the film.

BUCK JONES FILM ENDS RUN TONIGHT

"One Man Law," with Buck Jones in the leading role, will be screened at Walker's State theater for the last times tonight. The story tells of the difficulties Buck has to overcome as sheriff of a western community when a promoter sells the same property to two different groups who are prepared to fight out the question of ownership.

The program tonight also presents "His Marriage Mixup," a comedy; a cartoon; a news reel and a chapter of "The Phantom Empire," the fanciful serial of a mythical kingdom at the center of the world.

"LAWLESS RIDERS" COMING

Ken Maynard risks his life as well as his freedom in "Lawless Riders," the western action story which will be screened at Walker's State theater next Friday and Saturday. The popular western star is framed by an outlaw gang which has robbed a bank and killed a watchman to make it seem Maynard is the guilty man. Geneva Mitchell is his leading lady.

END OF THE DREAM

God, let you and me suppose Just for a moment:

You stand by the western garden wall,
And look long into the flushed depths.
You are a Keeper in blue shirt and overalls.
There is a flutter of wings,
And a gray pigeon settles on Your Hand.

It is the little gray bird of my earthly love,
Which has come to the temple yard.
The grain You brought to feed my hunger
Lies unnoticed on the ground!
The bells of the angelus may die unheeded,
For the chant of praise is forgotten.
Where the conflict ends, hunger ceases.

God, let us suppose,
Here in the twilight.

ASH MAN
Ash cans are sacred things:
They are the urn for black stars,
Dead stars.

Hear the man swear,
Who carries dead worlds on his back
For three dollars a day.

FILM VERSION OF NOTED BOOK OPENS FRIDAY

"The Trail of the Lonesome Pine," first natural-color motion picture of the outdoors, will open at the West Coast theater next Friday for an engagement of a week with Sylvia Sydney, Fred MacMurray and Henry Fonda in the starring roles, and Fred Stone at the head of the supporting cast.

The picture is based on the famous novel of the same name by John Fox, Jr., and is the first film in which the color element is taken as a matter of course and subordinated to the story interest. The film tells how an ancient hill feud involving two families, and resulting in dozens of deaths, is affected by the inroads of civilization, in the person of a young engineer who arrives to construct a railroad line through the Cumberland mountain region.

Miss Sydney is fascinated by MacMurray when he arrives, and Fonda, who has always loved her, is aroused to jealousy that knows but one law—to fight and kill for the things he holds dear. But as he sets out to follow his code, the feud in which he is involved becomes bitter and the climax which follows brings the film to a stirring conclusion. The picture is in technicolor.

ROMANTIC DRAMA AND MYSTERY FILM COMING TO STATE

"Confidential," a story of the activities of the United States department of justice, and "She Couldn't Take It," a romantic drama, are teamed on the double feature program at Walker's State theater next Wednesday and Thursday.

Evelyn Knapp and Donald Cook are starred in the first film, which concerns the activities of a government agent who joins a mob of gangsters to find the man higher up behind a lottery racket. Warren Hymer provides comedy as a dumb gangster.

George Raft as a former criminal who goes straight and takes over the management of a millionaire's family and affairs, and Joan Bennett as the headstrong daughter of the family, are the leading players in "She Couldn't Take It." Others in the cast are Walter Connolly, Billie Burke, Wallace Ford and Alan Mowbray.

FILM COMING HERE FEATURES 3 STARS

A modern version of the eternal triangle as applied to business men whose wives distrust the secretaries who occupy so large a time of their husbands' business hours is presented in "Wife Versus Secretary" starring Clark Gable, Jean Harlow and Myrna Loy and which has been set to show at the West Coast theater starting Sunday, March 15, according to Manager Lester J. Fountain.

In this new film Gable plays a business executive; Miss Harlow is cast as the secretary, and Miss Loy as the wife. The respective roles give each of these stars brilliant acting opportunities, according to advance notices. In the supporting cast are May Robson, George Barbier, James Stewart, Hobart Cavanaugh, Tom Dugan and Gilbert Emery.

FRED ASTAIRE, DIONNE QUINTS GINGER ROGERS IN NEW DRAMA AT WEST COAST AT BROADWAY

Men of war make love in "Follow the Fleet," the new Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers costarring musical which now is showing at the West Coast theater. The film is a gay tale of the navy on shore leave that highlights all the twists and techniques of courtship used by the "girl in every port" type of romance.

Astaire and Randolph Scott go to town in the fullest sense of the word when the dreadnaughts put into port, but these two are not the only ones in the film wise to the ways of romance. Ginger Rogers, as the nimble-footed songstress, and Astrid Allwyn, as a San Francisco society girl with a leaning towards sailors, know all there is to know about feminine charm.

There is only one who starts the film with a romantic handicap, and that is Harriet Hilliard, lovely newcomer to the screen who plays Ginger's repressed school teacher sister. The excitement in the film is keyed to seven new songs by America's top tunesmith, Irving Berlin.

Short subjects on the program include a travelogue in color, "City of the Mayan Indians"; a color cartoon, "Bottles," and World News events.

TWIN BILL AT BROADWAY TO OPEN THURSDAY

A double feature program with "The Story of Louis Pasteur" and "The Preview Murder Mystery," will open at the Broadway theater next Thursday, it was announced today.

A cast of prominent players including Paul Muni, Josephine Hutchinson, Anita Louise, Donald Woods, Fritz Leiber, Dickie Moore and Henry O'Neill is featured in "The Story of Louis Pasteur," dramatized biography of the life of the great French scientist.

"The Story of Louis Pasteur" has abundant charm, romantic appeal and the thrill of adventure, telling the story of the life of the great scientist whose theory that germs cause and carry disease was scorned and ridiculed by the members of the Academy of Medicine.

For years he conducted his experiments until he perfected his three great contributions to science, the value of the use of antiseptics, the anti-toxin for anthrax and the anti-toxin for rabies. Muni is said to do the greatest work of his career in the title role of the film.

"The Preview Murder Mystery" is said to be an engrossing and thrilling mystery drama of murder in a movie studio. The plot of the film offers plenty of what mystery fans like as a series of baffling crimes sweep across Hollywood. In the cast are such players as Reginald Denny, Gail Patrick, Frances Drake, Rod LaRoque, Conway Tearle and George Barlow.

The story opens at the preview of a new motion picture. As the picture ends and the lights go up, the star is discovered murdered. Then come a series of new crimes, with the climax showing how the murders are solved.

In a picture hailed as the entertainment scoop of the year, Darryl F. Zanuck makes movie stars of the first rank of the world's front-page darlings, as he presents the Dionne quintuplets in their first full length feature, "The Country Doctor," which opens today at the Broadway theater.

Adapted from an original story by Charles E. Blake, Chicago newspaperman, "The Country Doctor" finds its drama in the life-and-death conflict that a physician eternally wages in the Canadian wilds in his unselfish work. It is warm with romance, brightly alive with delightful humorous touches, fresh with the antics the crooning and play of the world's most famous babies.

Jean Hersholt, beloved character star, is the doctor in the picture. Because his nephew, Michael Whalen, persists in his love for June Lang, daughter of the post's manager, and because Hersholt himself tactlessly attempts to get a hospital and needed supplies for his people, he incurs the displeasure of the company powers. Without regard for his record or heroism, the post manager ousts him from his position.

He is broken and dispirited when he gets a call to attend John Qualen's wife and goes to her, never suspecting the phenomenon he is going to witness. In a sequence that is the high spot of the picture for drama and comedy, the five tiny mites are brought into the world, and the doctor begins the fight to keep them alive.

As the film nears the close, fame and rewards are heaped on the happy doctor as his little charges grow and prosper. And, at the height of his happiness, the post manager relents and gives his consent to the romance of Whalen and Miss Lange. Slim Summerville, Dorothy Peterson and Robert Barratt are members of the all-star cast. Dr. Allan Dafee supervised the taking of the picture.

Nautical Romance With Astaire and Rogers Opens Run

Featured by striking new dance routines set to music by Irving Berlin and by plenty of action thrills, the new Ginger Rogers-Fred Astaire nautical romance, "Follow the Fleet," opened at the West Coast theater last night.

The co-stars have plenty of opportunity to sing and dance in this picture, for which Berlin wrote seven new tunes. Things get off to a turbulent start in the picture when a bunch of marines find Astaire teaching a gang of tough sailors to dance and make the mistake of talking about "sissies."

The rough-and-tumble that ensues aboard one of Uncle Sam's dreadnaughts is the first of a series of action highlights that include a scrap between Astaire and Randolph Scott and some fancy high diving by the dancing star when he's forced to escape from guard duty on the battleship.

Randolph Scott is romantically teamed with Harriet Hilliard, highly praised singer who appears in her first important film assignment in this musical romance.

Santa Anan To Be Bride In Colorado

Miss Virginia Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Miller, 520 West Santa Clara avenue, has all in readiness to leave tomorrow for Denver, Colo., where her marriage to Don H. Fielding, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Fielding of Denver will take place March 10.

Five o'clock is the hour set for the wedding Tuesday evening in St. Luke's Episcopal church of Denver, with Dr. Rowe officiating. The bride will wear a brown silk suit with matching accessories and a corsage bouquet.

The bridegroom's parents and a little group of close friends will be present for the ceremony.

The young couple expect to make their home at 1275 Pearl street, Denver. Mr. Fielding is in the hardware business. He is a former resident of Long Beach, having attended Los Angeles high schools and junior college.

Miss Miller resigned her position at the Edison company in this city, where she had been employed for the past year. Employees bid her farewell yesterday, her last day at the office. She had her early schooling in Long Beach, completing her studies at University of California, Berkeley, where she received her A. B. degree and was a member of Beta Sigma Omicron sorority. She has been complimented at various bridal showers during the past few weeks.

Huntington Park Hosts Celebrate Birthday Of Santa Ana

This week brought a new experience to R. E. Franklin of 304 East St. Andrew's Place, for he was complimented at the first birthday party he has had since years of childhood. Moreover, the affair came to him as a surprise, through the clever connivance of Mrs. Franklin with the hosts, who were Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Atkins of Huntington Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin have lived in Santa Ana less than a year and Mr. Franklin is owner of the American Auto Salvage company on South Main street. The family came here from Los Angeles, and many of their friends from that city and its vicinity, were invited to share the anniversary event.

Variety marked the games program introduced by the hosts, who awarded prize packages to those who were successful in the different events. This interval was the appropriate time to present to the birthday celebrant, a collection of gifts from his friends. Music followed, with William Van Aalst, soloist at Glendale First Baptist church, singing various numbers accompanied by Ray Strong, organist at Forest Lawn Memorial Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Atkins, with Mrs. Franklin's assistance, served a midnight supper of Italian specialties, followed by coffee, cake and other sweets.

Guests included with Mr. and Mrs. Franklin of this city, the latter's mother, Mrs. Lindley M. Cooper of Roscoe; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Aarup, Mrs. Abraham Anthony, Mrs. Henry Krimsen, Miss Marie Cruz, Los Angeles; Mrs. Lou Konworthy, Maywood; Mr. and Mrs. Phil D. Comer, Eagle Rock; Mr. and Mrs. William Van Aalst and Ray Strong, Glendale.

Irish Theme Declared Doubly Appropriate At Bridge Party

Irish hospitality, an Irish decorative theme and even an Irish hostess, was the pleasure shared yesterday, and commented on amusingly by guests of Mrs. E. G. Irish, entertaining at bridge in the home of her daughter, Mrs. A. B. Jesse, 2324 Bonnie Brae.

Assisted by her daughter, the hostess served an inviting dessert course as a preliminary to the afternoon of bridge. Guests retained their gay green St. Patrick place cards for the subsequent tallying of bridge scores. Mrs. Edna Wells made the highest rating and received the prize selected by her hostess.

Mrs. Irish and her daughter had as guests, Mesdames Ross Grover, Edna Wells, Etta D. Sweet, Parke Ash, Herman Smith, Cora Ashby and Florence Hicks.

National Director Attends Sorority Initiation

Initiating three pledges last night following dinner in the Doris Kathryn Tea Shoppe, Beta Sigma Phi sorority members had the pleasure of according guest honors to Miss Lynn Terry of Kansas City, national director of the sorority.

Miss Elsie Siemsen's home, 1810 North Main street, lighted with many tapers, was scene of the impressive initiation ceremony, during which the Misses Geraldine Cole, Jean Ema and Lena Mae Wilsey became new members of the group. Miss Lucie McDermott, president, conducted the initiatory work, with assistance of Miss Spicer and Miss Hazel Lee. Miss Terry, who had written the initiation ceremony, gave added significance to the ritual by a short talk.

This house-party is to be in the Lester Boyles home in "Our Village." Mrs. Boyles, who was Miss Frances Tibbets before her marriage in late October, has long been a member of Phi Omega. Miss Jane McBurney, president, conducted the business session during which the affair was discussed.

Bridge was introduced as the amusement feature, and high scores made by Mrs. Boyles and Miss Margaret Perry were rewarded with prizes. Miss Oliphant re-arranged card tables for serving French pastries and tea, using all-white appointments, including her candles, with charming effect.

Postponed Club Party Is Pleasant Event Of Friday

Postponement from the customary meeting day of Tuesday to a Friday afternoon with Mrs. Herbert L. Miller, made it possible for members of a three table bridge club to welcome yesterday, Mrs. Harry Matthews (Ollinae Enlow Matthews) of Beverly Hills, whose attendance is only occasional since her departure from Santa Ana.

Mrs. Miller invited the club members to the home of her mother, Mrs. B. B. Kellogg, 322 South Birch street, where hospitable plans were furthered by a wealth of flowers in all colors and forms. These were especially effective in their use in the dining room, where artistic place-tally cards directed guests to places at the table arranged for the luncheon course.

Contract was played for the remainder of the afternoon.

Mrs. J. B. Jouvencat was the only absent member, and Mrs. Miller asked Mrs. Lawrence Bemis to lunch and play in her stead, together with Mesdames Dexter Hall, John D. Hall, Lawrence Coffing, Fred Forgy, Richard Emerson, J. A. George, Rex Kennedy, Hugh Lowe, Harry Matthews, Harvey Smith and Horace Stevens.

Romantic 1912 Wedding Commemorated With Bridge Party

At the conclusion, prizes for high score went to Mrs. Harry I. Fink and J. F. Jacoby, while consolation awards were made to Mrs. J. F. McWilliams and Mr. Fink.

In preparing to serve the dessert course with which the anniversary party was concluded, the hostess brought the card tables together and spread them with white damask. Places were indicated for the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Drake, and for Mr. and Mrs. Harry I. Fink, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Stark, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Jacoby, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Thrasher and Mr. and Mrs. J. F. O. Scott McFarland.

Flowers formed a springtime setting for the rites. The young bride wore a white swaggar suit with yellow accessories and a corsage bouquet of yellow freesias and violets. She was unattended.

In the guest group were the bride's mother, Mrs. William Ellison; her aunt, Mrs. Nora Kyle of Glendale; the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Amy Hoffmaster, and his brothers, Keith, Albert and Beverly Hoffmaster, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Warner (Mrs. Warner was Miss Shirley Hoffmaster).

Following the wedding, the newly-married couple expected to go to Sawtelle to visit the bride's father, who is in the hospital. After a short weekend trip, the new Mr. and Mrs. Hoffmaster will return to take up residence on the Browning ranch, where a home is all in readiness for them.

Both bridegroom and bride are graduates of Polytechnic High school.

Past O. E. S. Matrons Entertained by Their Sponsor

Those pleasant associations maintained by Eastern Star past matrons banded together as 1929 Past Matrons of Orange County, were observed again yesterday when the organization's sponsor, Mrs. H. T. Trueblood, entertained at luncheon in her home, 516 South Main street. "Old Erin" reigned supreme in decorations, and even in the four courses of the luncheon menu served at a table gay with green candles, St. Patrick appointments and a central arrangement of bright orange flowers and greenery.

Covers were laid for the hostess, Mrs. Trueblood and her houseguest, Mrs. William Wharton of Salem, Ore., Mrs. Charles F. Mitchell and Mrs. Walter Wright of Santa Ana; Mrs. Harry Kelly, Anaheim; Mrs. Walter Smalley, Anaheim; Mrs. Elsa Flippin, Orange; Mrs. William Johnson, Yorba Linda, and Mrs. B. R. Day, Garden Grove.

During the afternoon of needlework, members made plans for continuing their monthly parties, and accepted invitation of Mrs. Charles F. Mitchell to an April meeting. All enjoyed meeting Mrs. Trueblood's aunt, Mrs. Wharton, who has been spending the winter with her and renewing friendships formed last winter when she came south to escape the northern cold, and was with Mrs. Trueblood.

Miss Ann Scheffer Inspires Gay Bridal Shower

Miss Ann Scheffer, who has named March 23 as the date for her marriage to Don J. Lane of Long Beach, was inspiration for a shower of colorful appointments recently in the home of Mrs. Beryl Jenner, Irvine ranch. The bride-elect's sister, Mrs. Owen Woodruff (Gertrude Scheffer) of Los Angeles, entertained with Mrs. Jenner as co-hostess.

The pretty Spanish style home and its unique furnishings suggested the decorative motif observed in all details. Luncheon was served at small tables appointed with pottery. Throughout the rooms were effective arrangements of marigolds and wild mustard blooms.

Games and music occupied the group for the remainder of the afternoon. Enamel were kitchen accessories in tones of cream and red were the guests' gifts to Miss Scheffer.

In the group were the honoree and her mother, Mrs. John W. Scheffer of Tucson; Mr. Lane's mother, Mrs. P. S. Lane, Mrs. C. D. Holmes and Mrs. John O'Brien, Long Beach; Mrs. Sam Glassman, Mrs. Albert Eastman, Mrs. Patterson, Mrs. Ben De Brouwer, Mrs. Ray De Brouwer, Irvine; Miss Evelyn Sherrill and Miss Martha Zaket, Santa Ana; with the hostesses, Mrs. Woodruff and Mrs. Jenner.

Nature Study Provides Fine Program For Ebell Section

Mindful of the charm of a proper garden setting for any home, members of Ebell Third Household Economics section turned from study of household matters to a consideration of gardens, at a meeting Thursday in the clubhouse.

Mrs. C. F. Crose, Mrs. Charles G. Seaman and Mrs. C. W. Rindgen suggested such gardens by the lavish use of flowers in the lounge where guests were received, and again to embellish the tables where luncheon was served in advance of the program.

Miss Vanche Plumb was honor guest at the luncheon, and later addressed the clubwomen on a nature study theme. "She talked on the need of conservation of the shrubbery of California, especially the manzanita and the madrone, and described many similar shrubs and plants that may be used advantageously in garden planting. Birds too came in for a share of the general comment, for Miss Plumb is recognized as an authority on bird life of the state.

A touching feature of the afternoon was when members stood in silent tribute to the memory of the late Mrs. A. C. Bowers, a charter member of the section.

Party Honors Edison P-T. A. Board

Mrs. R. A. McMahon, president of Edison P-T. A., entertained for her executive board and teachers of the school at a pleasant affair yesterday afternoon in the school following a short business meeting.

Mrs. Hazel Maxwell, principal, was appointed chairman of a nominating committee, whose other members will be named at a meeting of the association next Tuesday.

Mrs. McMahon had arranged a session of games at the afternoon diversion. Prizes were won by Mrs. Charles A. Hossfield and Mrs. L. V. Brown, scoring high and low in bridge; Mrs. L. R. Musick, Mrs. O. L. Jacobs, high and low in 500; Mrs. John Henderson, Mrs. Parley Heaston, high and low in crotchet. Mrs. Kenneth Green won the door prize.

In serving refreshments Mrs. McMahon had assistance of Mrs. L. R. Musick and Mrs. Kenneth Green.

Guests were Mesdames S. R. Gibbs, L. R. Musick, O. C. Phillips, Marion Valley, L. V. Brown, Charles A. Hossfield, Grace Reid, Lee Ellert, Kenneth Green, John Henderson, Elton Nichols, Parley Heaston, F. M. Edwards, O. L. Jacobs, Hazel Maxwell, Lyle Mitchell, Mary Alexander, Clement Rowe, Forest Davis, Nellie Hughes and the Misses Dorothy Jessee and Eva Marshall.

P-T. A. Officers Entertained at Dinner

McKinley P-T. A. executive board members were entertained Thursday evening when Mrs. Herbert Hildebrand presided at a dinner party in her home, 1034 West First street. Green and white decorations and place cards at the table, suggested the approaching Irish observance of St. Patrick's Day.

Covers were laid for the hostess, Mrs. Hildebrand, Mesdames Floyd Mitchell, John State, Elmer Christensen, H. G. Delgado, George Krook, A. Garthe, J. P. McWilliams, Paul Webb, H. M. Whisenand and J. A. Gajek.

Most of the after-dinner conversation related to association activities and plans were formulated for a general covered dish dinner to be held at the school in the near future.

Native Daughters Will Present Banners to Bowers Museum

Plans which have been under consideration for the past several weeks by Santa Ana parlor, Native Daughters of the Golden West, will reach their culmination Monday in afternoon and evening festivities complementing the visit here of Mrs. Anna C. Thuesen of San Francisco, grand president of the organization.

Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock will come the first of these functions, the formal presentation by Santa Ana parlor of four flags which have played prominent part in the state's history, to Bowers Memorial museum. These exercises, to be held in the museum, will be open to the public, and will include brief addresses by various prominent citizens including Terry E. Stephenson, chairman of the museum board, who will receive the flags on behalf of the museum.

Mrs. Matilda Lemon, parlor chairman of history and landmarks, will make formal presentation of the flags. Mrs. F. E. Coulter, curator of the museum, will follow this with a history of the museum.

At 6:30 o'clock, the Daughters will preside at a banquet honoring their grand president. This is to be held in Veterans' hall, where state officers and representatives of various Southland parlors will be entertained. The regular meeting of the parlor will follow, with the grand president making her annual visit of inspection.

Frequent Club Guests Entertain Pegasus Group At Tea

Miss Beulah May and Mrs. Robert Ranney Shaffer, both of whom have been frequent guests of Pegasus club, Thursday returned the compliment by receiving Pegasus members and a few friends at a poetry tea in Miss May's home, 1062 Mabury street. Those who shared the pleasant affair included Mesdames Walter Foote, Justus Birtcher, H. W. Guthrie, J. B. Wolfe, Earl Morris, Malcolm Macduard, Frank Was, Charles Brisco, George W. Bond, Rose Havelly, Thomas H. Willits and Miss Betty Joe Willits.

Mrs. Shaffer and Miss May alternated their poems throughout the program hour, which opened with the reading by Miss May, of Arthur E. Collins' winning poem in her Orange County Anthology, "In Old San Juan." There were a few other numbers at intervals during the afternoon, including Mrs. Foote's poem, "The Poet," dedicated to Mrs. Shaffer; a story, "The Worthy Action" by Mrs. Was, read by Mrs. Brisco, and a group of requested readings by Miss Betty Joe Willits.

Poems read by the two hostess writers included many that had appeared in magazines, and several requested numbers. Miss May selected such representative poems as "Songs Before Sunrise," "Wind on the West," "A Shawl About Her Shoulders," "The Cat Began to Purr," "A Day at Mount Vernon," and many others.

Mrs. Shaffer's contribution included "Spanish Courtier," "A Poem's Faith," "Memories," "The Weaver," "Ravens of San Juan," "The Hacienda," and a group which Miss Willits gave very effectively, "Lament of an Ostrich," "Moods," "To a Tintype" and "Driftwood."

It was natural that writing should dominate the tea table conversation when the hostesses concluded the afternoon by serving little cakes, coffee and nuts. Miss May's home, with its books, art studies, heirlooms, and general charm, was made even pleasanter as a setting for such a tea, by the flowers sent by Beta Sigma Phi sorority.

SHIPBOARD DINNER

One of their frequent little parties aboard the U. S. cruiser Chicago was enjoyed last night by Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin J. MacMullen, 2418 Heliopole drive, who were entertained at dinner by Captain and Mrs. Reed Fawell, with Mrs. Coswell of Bremerton, Wash., to complete the intimate small group of guests. The charm of dining amidst the formality and the glitter of naval uniforms is one frequently shared by Mr. and Mrs. MacMullen, who found last night's hospitality the equal of its predecessors. The only thing to mar the evening was the return to Santa Ana in the midst of the heavy fog that blanketed the coastal plain.

ATTEND DOLL DAY

This week was made especially happy for a group of children from Roosevelt school who were taken over to Terminal Island to attend the annual observance of Doll Day by Japanese school children there. Miss Gladys Campbell, one of the Roosevelt teachers, Mrs. Ralph ("Bill") Cole and Mrs. Frank Was took the children over to the event, stopping in Bixby park, Long Beach, for a picnic luncheon. The small Japanese girls in their quaint kimonos with obis whose intricate knotting and adjustment requires so much time and patience, were like dolls themselves, especially the small kindergartners whose duty it was to pass trays of rice cakes at the tea hour. The display of dolls, which provides for little Japanese girls a festival such as their brothers enjoy on kite day, was highly educational to the Roosevelt third graders, who are studying Japan in their school work.

Jesus Teaches Neighborliness

Text: Luke 10:25-37.
The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for March 8.

By WM. E. GILROY, D.D.
Editor of Advance

The story upon which our lesson is based, the Parable of the Good Samaritan, is in many respects the greatest in all literature. It expresses, possibly more than any other story, the universality of religion in its application to life.

Here is a tale that requires no philosophical system, no scheme of theology, not even a code of morals, for its interpretation or its validity. It is as true and applicable today as it was when Jesus told it, and we can think of it as applying to every people, everywhere, and in every age.

It is one story that perhaps is familiar to all. It begins with a certain lawyer, or scribe, asking Jesus what he should do to inherit eternal life. Jesus, as He so often did, turned the question upon the questioner.

Here was a man versed in law asking the question, and Jesus directed him first of all to the law. He asked: "How do you read the law?" The man aptly pointed out that the law showed the way to eternal life by loving God with all the heart and soul and mind and strength, and in loving one's neighbor as oneself. Jesus approved his answer. "This do," said He, "and thou shalt live."

But the lawyer was not quite satisfied. Willing to justify himself, he said to Jesus: "Who is my neighbor?" It was then that Jesus told the simple story. "A certain man," worth way-laying, was attacked by robbers and left half dead.

A priest came along. He saw the poor victim, but he passed by on the other side. It was not his business. So, also, passed a Levite, a man of religion who ought to have been concerned about his fellow.

And then came a Samaritan, in the eyes of the Jew an unorthodox person, an outcast from the real truth and practice of religion; and the Samaritan was moved with compassion. He stopped, and he did what he could for the poor fellow, putting him upon his own beast, bringing him to an inn, and arranging for his care.

"Which of these three, thinkest thou," said Jesus to the lawyer, "proved neighbor unto him fallen upon by robbers?" What could the lawyer, or anybody else, reply in the presence of such facts?

Naturally, the lawyer answered: "He that showed mercy unto him"; and Jesus said to him: "Go and do thou likewise."

Does one need to add anything to the clarity of such teaching? Truth in religion does not consist of place or profession.

The good man is the man who is good in action, who is good for something; and, in the eyes of God, a man who is outcast and despised by those who consider themselves better than he is, may stand commended and approved where and when he has acted with love and kindness.

COME TO CHURCH

The Church is the meeting place for God and His People

REV. HARRY EVAN OWINGS

"The Church and the Old Gospel"

We are frequently reminded that it is the church's business to declare the old gospel. And without a doubt it is. But much trouble has arisen from the fact that this gospel that the church has proclaimed is not old enough.

So much of the time that gospel has been only as old as the beliefs and doctrines that formed the basis of the fundamentalist - modernist controversies, or perchance as old as the doctrinal system of Calvin or the preaching of Luther. Sometimes it has become as old as some of the creeds of the early church, such as the Nicene or the Apostles' creeds, and frequently as old as the magnificent declarations of Paul. But all too often the church has not majored on the gospel that is as old as Jesus.

Thus to her dismay she has discovered that while her constituents have been quarreling and disputing over the correctness of theological beliefs the evil forces have been tightening their grip on the human beings whom she has been neglecting. While tithing mint and anise and cummin she has failed to stress justice, and mercy, and faith, the weightier matters of the law.

Under these conditions the church has been called back to Jesus, back to the gospel that is as old as Jesus, back to the emphasis of Jesus. And she has found there that what she has been calling the "fundamentals" are not at all the things that were fundamental to the gospel of Jesus. What are some of Jesus' fundamentals?

Love your God with the whole being but just as earnestly be concerned about your neighbor as about yourself.

I will have mercy and not sacrifice.

The spirit of the Lord is to preach the gospel to the poor, to give release to captives, to free the bruised and oppressed.

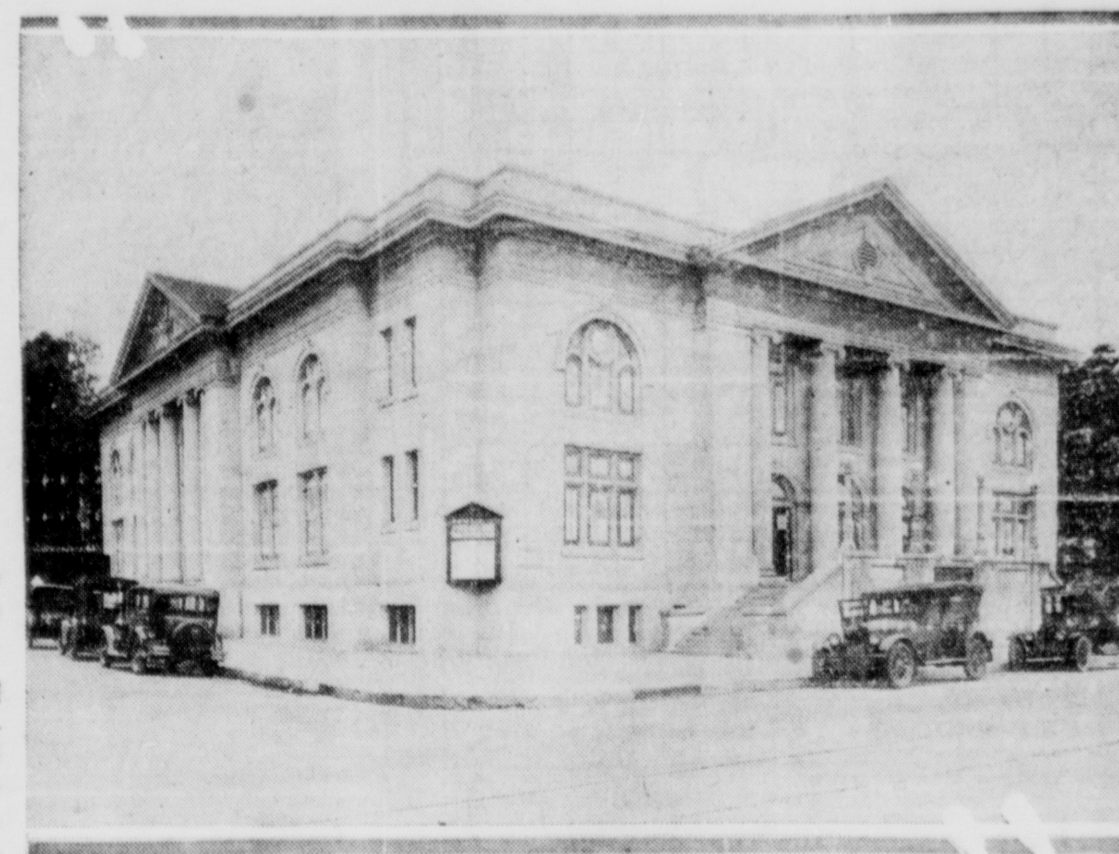

Seek ye first the kingdom of God and His justice.

Whoever causes one of the helpless ones to stumble should have a millstone about his neck and be drowned.

Love your enemies; do good to him who does ill to you.

Blessed are the poor; a rich man has a difficult time getting into the Kingdom of God.

Love one another. Be neighborly to the fellow in trouble.

First Baptist Church, 712 N. Main St., Santa Ana

Morning Service, 9:30 A. M.; Sunday School, 10:40 A. M.
Evening Service, 7:00 P. M.; Young People's Meeting, 6 P. M.
Wednesday Service, 7:30 P. M.

Do not join in the harsh competition for position but rather in the kindhearted ambition to serve folk as much as possible.

Here then is the old gospel. The church must not eclipse it with newer and secondary additions. It is the gospel that you must be so born again, as to have the heart that is radiant and big with brotherliness, service, justice, kindness, purity, good-neighborliness, love for God showing itself in love for people.

The situation out of which that gospel grew is to be remembered. It grew out of the fact that the church of Jesus' day was so concerned with maintaining its traditions and institutions that it had neither eyes nor heart for human beings in sorry plight all about it. The church of today is seeking to avoid the same peril. She is coming afresh to the world with the old gospel, the gospel of Jesus her Lord, the gospel of the changed heart, which may be paraphrased:

Inasmuch as you are so swayed by the love of God as to have a heart of compassion and a hand of deliverance for needy and distressed and sinful human beings you are worthy to be my disciples and friends, for in serving any such fellowman you are ministering to Me.

ADKINSON FOR CONGRESS

Announcement that Ray Adkinson, county superintendent of schools, is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Congress sounds a new note in Orange county politics. For the first time an educator is offering his services as candidate for Congress.

Adkinson's entry into the Congressional campaign is a little closer to the heart of most Orange county people than would be the candidacy of the average aspirant. He was born in Orange county and served here in the schools. He knows the hopes and needs of the Nineteenth Congressional district and is willing to fight for the people he will represent, if elected.

The Democratic party is fortunate in securing a man of Adkinson's caliber to carry the Bourbon banner. Level headed and sincere, he is not to be swayed by passion or childish enthusiasm and level headed men are needed today in Congress.

There has been too much strife created in both parties, that has been distinctly detrimental to the people, created by politicians who have been self-centered and interested only in personal aggrandizement and self perpetuity in office. It is this strife and scheming for personal advancement that is responsible, to a great degree, for the condition of the nation. This struggle for power and a lack of fundamental knowledge has almost wrecked the greatest nation in the world and it is only through calm, sane-thinking men in the seats of government that this harm can be undone.

FLYING AND SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA

The announcement by Jack Fry, head of the Transcontinental Western Air Line, that five of the country's greatest air concerns have about come to an agreement on details of the proposed 4 motored DC-4 airship, which is designed to carry at least 40 passengers across the continent in 12 hours or less, is of interest to every citizen in Southern California.

The more rapid and economical transportation, the closer all the people of the United States are to Southern California and the more they will be inclined to visit here or live here. The time element is now being reduced so that is not now so much of a factor. The cost is the only thing that keeps millions from visiting California yearly.

The proposed ship will have drawing-room, parlor-car and dining accommodations. This is not so important when it takes only 12 hours to make the trip.

The first few times a man flies across the continent, he is not much interested in sleeping. The beauty of the scenery and the fascination of seeing the different parts of the country so rapidly holds his interest constantly. The view, even at night, is superb. Who could he be to want to sleep while traveling westward at sun-up one-fourth as fast as the sun travels and in the midst of sunrise beauty, above the clouds or high in the air? It will take sometime before sleepers will be in much demand for the average traveler. Every improvement, however, is a great sign of progress.

FEDERAL SOIL EROSION PREVENTION

The new bill, claimed for the purpose of preventing soil erosion gives the Secretary of Agriculture about a half billion dollars to pay out almost as he sees fit. It cannot be paid out for any particular restriction of production to any agriculturalist. Why the United States Government should turn over this amount of money to the Director of Agriculture unless to be used as a 'sop' to buy the votes of the corn, wheat, tobacco, cotton and other miscellaneous growers, is more than we can comprehend. If it is fair to subsidize any group, it certainly is fair to subsidize all groups. If the corn and wheat growers are to be subsidized, why not subsidize orange, lemon and walnut growers? It is hard for us to imagine how the Government can spend this money in any way except in the greatest favoritism.

Land that is of any particular value is privately owned. For the Government to spend thousands of dollars on land owned by big ranchers, to grow crops to enrich the owners' soil or for preventing soil erosion, is simply a plain gift to the men owning the land. How are these men to be picked out? Who is to receive the donation—the gift? It does not seem that laws of this kind, which are merely camouflage, can beget confidence in our social relations.

The Supreme Court has ruled that it is illegal to pay people not to produce and this method is simply a subterfuge of the plainest kind. Who shall do without a half billion dollars' worth of food, shelter and clothing, which this appropriation means, in order to give it to some landowner for improving the value of his property? It does not seem to us that such appropriation can be reconciled with reason. We have heard no statement of explanation. We do not believe there is any to be heard.

PUBLIC ADULT EDUCATION

How far the Government should go in adult education seems to be one of the most important present day subjects. Glenn Frank has been publishing a series of articles showing that when education is centralized, it invariably becomes a medium of propaganda for the governing body which is in control. The farther the payment gets from the local people, the more it becomes propaganda.

The Saturday Evening Post, in the last issue, carries an editorial under the heading, "Is There No Stopping Point?" It points out that the Federal Government has appropriated several hundred thousand dollars to the Federal Office of Education to finance public or open forums in a number of cities. As has been previously announced, Santa Ana has been selected as one of these cities. The editorial, after explaining the dangers of this kind of education, has the following to say: "If there is any institution in this country which is essentially and peculiarly local in nature and should derive its initiation and support, financial and otherwise, from the volunteer efforts of local citizens, it is the public forum. Indeed, numbers of forums even bear the name of town hall. * * * But when it proceeds to finance forums, although it does not finance the incomparably more important educational institutions of public school and public library, the detached observer cannot but fear that all lines dictated by sound judgment and the ordinary sense of proportion are breaking down."

When the education becomes centralized, who is to educate the educators and who is to be the judge as to what is real education?

We've Been Building Monuments to the Wrong People

Day By Day In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE
(Copyright, 1935)

WASHINGTON, March 7.—Has the senate, through its agents, a right to tap a citizen's telephone wire or to open letters passing to and from a given postoffice or to obtain copies of all telegraph messages sent by the citizen, if the purpose of the search is to secure information on which to base new legislation? This is the broad issue raised in the district supreme court, for if the senate has a right to a blanket demand for all telegraph messages, it would be all other forms of spoken or written communication.

For many years the powers of investigating committees have been the subject of discussion, but it appears that never before have exactly the same questions been raised as now are about to be threshed out in the courts by those individuals who are objecting to what they term constitutional search and seizure of their private papers.

There would seem to be no doubt from an examination of the legal precedents that the senate lobby committee or its agents have a right to demand information, not only records in a citizen's files but telegrams, copies of which are on file in telegraph offices, provided the information sought can be shown to be relevant to the inquiry and provided also that congress has the constitutional right to legislate on the subject or subjects of the investigation.

The demand for a blanket submission of all telegrams passing to and from a certain city within a given period without specifying what messages and what papers are desired and their specific relation to the subject matter has been passed upon once by the supreme court of the United States in a unanimous opinion written by that great liberal justice, Oliver Wendell Holmes. The circumstances were about as follows:

In 1921 the senate passed a resolution authorizing the federal trade commission to investigate the tobacco trade, both domestic and export, with particular reference to market prices to producers. Under the law, the commission already had a right to have access to documents and books of companies and by subpoena to require the books and papers to be submitted to it for examination. So, the commission called on the American Tobacco company to produce "all letters and telegrams received by the company from, or sent by it to all of its jobber customers, between January 1, 1921, to December 31, 1921."

This demand is similar to the one made on the law firm of Silas Strawn in Chicago and several other firms and companies, the period being from Feb. 1, 1935, to December 1, 1935, and all messages being asked for whether sent or received. The American Tobacco company refused, and the commission asked the court to force compliance, whereupon the case reached the supreme court of the United States, the opinion handed down stating that the fourth amendment to the constitution governing search and seizure had been violated. Justice Holmes said:

"The mere facts of carrying on a commerce not confined within state lines and of being organized as a corporation do not make men's affairs public." And he added: "Anyone who respects the spirit as well as the letter of the fourth amendment would be loath to believe that congress intended to authorize one of its subordinate agencies to sweep all our traditions into the fire and to direct fishing expeditions into private papers on the possibility that they may disclose evidence of crime."

Justice Holmes declared that the interruption of business, the revelation of trade secrets, the expense of complying with wholesale demands for books and papers while of importance, really constituted the least considerations in such a case. The vital thing, he pointed out, was that "it is contrary to the first principles of justice to allow a search through all of an individual's or a corporation's records, 'relevant or irrelevant,' in the hope that something will turn up."

Now it will be noted that a demand for a specific telegram or series of telegrams relating to a relevant episode might be held to be lawful, but the question would then turn on whether congress had the power to legislate on the subject or subjects of the investigation. The demand for a blanket submission of all telegrams passing to and from a certain city within a given period without specifying what messages and what papers are desired and their specific relation to the subject matter has been passed upon once by the supreme court of the United States in a unanimous opinion written by that great liberal justice, Oliver Wendell Holmes. Little Renny's Note Book

By LEE PAPE

Me and Glasses Magee was in his back yard and I axidently happened to look in the ash barrel to see if there was anything unusual in it, which there was, being a lot of old medicine bottles, some almost full and some almost empty, and Glasses said, My mother cleaned out the medicine chest this morning and whenever she came to a bottle that she couldn't remember what it was for, why she just threw it out.

And me and him started to count them, being 13 all different kinds and colors especially red and brown, and I had a idea, saying, G, hay, let's mix up some of every kind all in one bottle and maybe it will be the invention of a grate cure for something, if we can only find out what.

Which we started to do, poring some out of each into the clearest and emptiest bottle, Glasses saying, G, look at the color changing all the time, and me saying, The proves how good it is. Let's take it around to White's drug-store and maybe Mr. White will buy it off of us if we leave him take the credit for it, I said.

Let's leave some of the fellows to feel first and see if it makes them feel any better, Glasses said. Which we did, only they all decided not to take it after they smelt it and we couldn't influence any of them to taste it without smelling it first, and I said, Well it must be able to cure something or it wouldn't smell like that.

And we took it around to the drug-store and asked Mr. White what was was good for and if he wanted to buy it and put his own name on the label, and he smelt it and even tasted it on the end of the cork, saying, it reminds me of every kind of medicine I ever heard of.

That's just what it is, that's just why me and Glasses said, And we told him how we invented it, Glasses said, We tried to get some of the other fellows to take some for a experiment, but they thawt they'd rather not.

I fancy it would be safer with me, if an offer of 3 cents tempts you, Mr. White said.

Which it did.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

TESTING BABIES

A mother has written to ask me for a reliable test for her baby. A test that will indicate the baby's intelligence, its future success and give the mother some assurance for the training she wants to give him. A reason, as it were, for the faith that is in her.

I offer no such test. I would not test a baby's intelligence unless there was grave doubt about it; then I would call in the experts of the baby hospital and clinic to do the testing. Tests that are given by amateurs are useless. Worse, they annoy children and worry them without reason. Nothing is learned by testing a baby with a series of questions that could not be observed by the intelligent and watchful mother. When the test is over and the child tagged, mother knows what she knew before. He is bright, or he is not bright.

Something else is involved in this testing, however. It is possible to test a child only at his present level of development. No child develops evenly. Some of them are slow to develop certain powers like speech, walking, organization of ideas, coordination of one sort and another. A test might show a child very bright today and not so bright next month when another test is given. Or the other way about. Today's test might show him deficient in some ways while another test, given a few weeks later, will show a decided advance. Any such test calls for experiences. If the baby has not had the experiences called for, he is to be regarded as different.

Wait a while. Give the baby a chance to grow. If he smiles at you, eats well, sleeps well, hears, sees, responds to your touch; plays, takes an interest in things about him, why worry? If he is decidedly backward he is a subject for the expert's care, not one for the game of questions and answers. We are having too much testing and not enough teaching.

My experience with testing leads me to conclude that unless there is grave doubt about a child's normality the good teacher's judgment on a child's intelligence and ability to do the grade work required is as good, or better, than any formal test conducted by inexperienced, untrained people. The teacher lives with the pupils, feels their reactions, handles their work, knows the quality of their minds as nobody else can know it. It is the quality of the mind that is of first importance. Quality means high power, endurance, first rate mental ability. A good teacher detects these and responds to them as ducks do to water.

Only highly trained and skilled examiners should be allowed to test the mental ability of children and label them in accordance with that finding. It is too serious a proceeding to permit of any bungling. A good teacher, experienced in dealing with children can say at once that this child is bright, this one slower, this one slowest. That is enough to work on. Those who defy understanding are subjects for the experts. Babies ought to be given a chance to grow before being tested and labeled. Labels are dangerous.

THE PATCHWORK QUILT

By Eleanor Young Elliott
(Have You Any Patches to Add to It?)

INTROSPECTION

You call me brave? Dear heart were I to tell you
How timorous I am, how sadly weak,
I think you'd draw aside perhaps, in passing.
Nor smile at me, nor scarcely even speak.
My soul, like some poor homeless waif of heaven
Stands shivering at the doorstep of your mind,
Half covering with the fear least you be frowning,
Half swaggering with the hope that you'll be kind.
Courageous? No. It needs your friendly greeting
Like that thrilled forth by soaring meadowlark.
Poor frightened soul! It fears encroaching shadows
And merely tries to whistie in the dark.

CHRONICLES OF THE LITTLE GRAY HOUSE

The Little Gray House felt—and looked—deserted, even though Tipperary and Pancho were there for companionship. But small as the house is, it was out of the question to tuck it into the rear of the car for a ride over the Ortega highway.

Blessings on the far-visions men who gave us this highway—the lovelyest Southland drive, easy of access, we know. Loafing down the coast road with the sea as smooth as a ballroom floor, we took special joy in the road building operations because of the paving contractor's name, O. U. Miracle. It needs an exclamation point.

Such Spanish fare as one secures at a quaint little roadside cafe in the Mission Village! Such peppery tamales, enchilados and "salada." Such piping hot tortillas! On past the Mission and meeting spring face to face on the Ortega highway. A California spring—doubly lovely because of its evanescence. Gracious curves, slopes and little secret draws mantled with an unbelievable green. Sturdy liveoaks, sycamores, not yet showing their leaf buds, but bearing aloft their strange burdens of mistletoe. Clumps of prickly pear of up and ticket him on the label, and he smelt it and even tasted it on the end of the cork, saying, it reminds me of every kind of medicine I ever heard of.

That fascinating cliff face shorn smooth by the temblor which wrecked the Mission more than a century ago. A pause at the hot springs for a swim in the buoyant sulphur waters. Then on winding roads looking down on the little stream far below, to the divide, more, its lake and surrounding groves and hills. Santa Ana canyon is more familiar. What it has lost in charm it has gained in safety through the re-building operations. But oh what a drive for a single afternoon!

And grandma says that boys like me
Should never tell a lie—
But what's a feller going to do
If truth won't get him by?
And then at table, grandma says
No matter what I'm doing,
I mustn't say a single word
Before I'm through with chewing!

AMBITION

When I grow up and am big and strong
A policeman I will be.
I'll stand all day at Fourth and Main
And let traffic whiz by me.
I'll have a big stick in my hand
And a six gun on each hip
And when I shout and storm around
I'm sure 'twill make things rip.
And any one that sasses me
Or thinks he's bigger than I am
I'll go right up and ticket him
And send him to the can!
On windy days 'twill sure be nice
With girls a-sailing by
If only I can find some way
To keep dust from my eye.

R. Berry.

TODAY I SHALL LIVE

Some day I shall die
And crumble to dust,
But today I shall live
And love and play.
Tomorrow I may be dead
And buried and forgotten,
But today
I shall live.
Who knows what will come
With tomorrow?
Perhaps strange dreams
Or commonplace realities—
But today I shall live.

Don Vincente.

DEAD WOOD

Your deeds
Are like an ax
That's keen and sharp of blade.
To you, people are just so much
Dead wood.

—Just Another Patch

Dear Patcher Lady—Your rhythmic patches has got me to wantin' to poetize. So I quit my plowin' at noon and writ a poem. I hope Susie Slade likes it. Here it is—

OUR PASTURE

Our pasture, stretchin' by the road,
Is in new green, nobody sowed,
And at its edges where'd be corners
If rail fences were not plum gone-ers,
Are wild flowers bright as budding elves,
What are a bloomin' out them-selves.

There's lots of energizin' smells
A wafin', when there's breezy spells.
But when the moon pours on that pasture
It's fittin' for a paintin' master,
If I have washed them right,
From off that field all silver spread.

I aint yet hardly realized
How beauty got so pasturized.
Silas Sapp.

GRANDMA SAYS

My grandma says the queerest things
That ever you did hear!
She alls hands it out to me
Whenever I come near.

She alls asks about my ears
If I have washed them right,
Now can't a boy be left alone
To wash himself? Good night!

And then the way I sit, I sit
Like other fellers do,
But grandma says the way I look
Is very like a screw.

And grandma says that boys like me
Should never tell a lie—
But what's a feller going to do
If truth won't get him by?

And then at table, grandma says
No matter what I'm doing,
I mustn't say a single word
Before I'm through with chewing!

And grandma says a thousand times
"Don't be so noisy, please!"
It's allus when you're having fun
That makes her ill at ease.

And then grandma's allus home!
It makes me very blue,
Why can't she take to playing
Like other wimmen do?

Elizabeth Foote.

REGISTER CLEARING HOUSE

(The articles under the Clearing House are published for the purpose of an exchange of ideas and are not necessarily the opinion of this newspaper. Contributors are urged to confine their articles to 300 words.)

Editor, Register: In The Register of March 5, Thursday, your editorial under the caption of "On Top of His Job," I have an idea you uttered a far more significant truth, as well as one of a deeper meaning, than you had any idea at the time.

Our President, Franklin Delano Roosevelt, is truly on top of, and not under his job, where he should be.

I mean that he, together with our servants that do not serve us, but instead serve their own personal and selfish interests, have the face of the fact that the taxpayers, time after time, large sums of money to finance his and their own political schemes at the taxpayers' expense, the object of which is solely to perpetuate themselves in office in the name of or under the guise of recovery.

The taxpayers are feeling the burden of him and his henchmen on our backs; in fact, we are sick and tired of seeing our sweat-like blood tax money being poured into political, alphabetical rat holes, and for the painful pleasure of seeing this dastardly thing done, we, the taxpayers, together with the future generations, have to pay for this foolish expenditure of our money, with interest, if it is ever paid.

I voted for our present President, and for a time was with him in his program searching for a remedy for the predicament in which we found ourselves after the bubble burst, but after these confessedly experimental measures had been tried and found both inadequate and only temporary, I saw the face of the fact that he had said on his word of honor, if these measures fail I will try something else. We took him at his word but he has failed to keep his word. In this, as well as in other cases, he and his coterie of "yes men" have persistently refused to listen to requests that other recovery measures be tried or given a hearing. I refer to the Townsend recovery measure as set forth in the revised McGraw-Hill (H. R. 7154) which is the Townsend Recovery Plan, that is now before them,

He and his henchmen seem to be inclined to follow the money powers, the vested interests, the metropolitan press and federal reserve banking systems dictations rather than the mass of the common people.

Let me remind him of this saying of his, "the most irresistible force in the world is the American people when they are once aroused in or over a given cause and united."

So we have parted ways with him until he is willing to champion the cause of the common people.

"Of the people, by the people and for the people."
If our President was in very truth, under the national economic load, and really had their interests at heart, he could not so unconcernedly ride atop this tremendous national burden.

The adoption of the Townsend Recovery Plan will save the day for all of us, and there is no other adequate remedy offered.
